HEADS UP — Riggers guide one of two 35-ton traveling construction platforms onto Golden Gate Bridge cables. The operation closed the bridge for almost two hours early today, but all went smoothly. The steep angle of the cables required especially careful handling to prevent the platform from rolling down the cables into the Marin anchorage.

TWO-HOUR TASK

Bridge Project Goes Smoothly

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

With barely inches to spare, two giant Erector Set bridges were hoisted early today onto the main cables of the Golden Gate Bridge.

The span pulled through the unprecedented engineering operation without a scar, although it was closed almost twice as long as the planned one hour.

Roadblocks went up at 3 a.m., and were not raised until 4:50 a.m. because of unexpected delays in securing the second 35-ton bridge on the steep cables between the North tower and the Marin anchorage.

The other was hoisted onto the relatively level cables at midspan.

It was the first planned closing of the span since it opened in 1937. It had to be closed 20 years ago during a windstorm.

Because most motorists knew about the closing, only about 100 southbound cars piled up in the waiting line on the Sausalito Lateral. About 150 northbound cars had backed up in the toll plaza by the time the bridge was reopened.

The California Highway Patrol diverted southbound trucks over the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, although many parked during the closing at the Terra Linda highway scales. They were not allowed through Sausalito after the Waldo Grade was closed at 2 a.m. to move the bridges from their assembly site south of the tunnel. Automobiles, however, were detoured through Sausalito until the closing an hour later.

Major truckers also had been advised in advance about the closing.

Some restaurants in Sausalito and San Francisco stayed open late to accommodate motorists. Bridge officers telephoned the restaurants to report the reopening.

The toll office said the telephone "never stopped ringing" during the closing.

The decision to go ahead on the operation had been uncertain until evening because of a forecast of rain. But the night was dry, clear and unusually windless.

Bridge Engineer Robert E. Shields said such calm nights come "only when we do the proper dance."

Winds would have made it impossible to handle the 90-foot-long bridges, which were hoisted onto the cables by a pair of 60-ton cranes — with only two to three inches to spare between the steel hand lines bridge workers use when walking the cables.

Extensive calculations were made and checked repeatedly over the past months to determine where to park the cranes for the hoisting operation. They had to be positioned directly over steel supports under the deck, otherwise the whole contraption would have broken through the roadway.

Plans originally called for using much larger cranes, but they were found to be too heavy despite careful positioning over the steel members.

Growth Limits Heavily Backed

By ERIK M. INGRAM

West Marin residents turned out in mass last night to throw their support behind the proposed countywide plan's goal to limit population growth and protect open space in rural areas of the county.

The meeting, staged at West Marin School in Point Reyes Station and attended by about 150 local residents, was the first formal hearing on the plan by the county planning commission. Previously, the hearings have been conducted by the City-County Planning Council of Marin, which drafted the plan.

Though county officials expected stiff opposition from some ranchers and landowners, none materialized during the meeting in which the audience expressed general agreement with the plan.

(Some landowners in the past have opposed any action which would reduce the value of their property, such as rezoning to control growth.)

Several residents expressed concern, however, for the future of local school districts, which will lose property tax revenues through public acquisition of lands and the controversial A-60 agricultural rezoning, which limits development to one dwelling per 60 acres.

Robert W. Giacomini, a Point Reyes dairyman and trustee of the Shoreline Unified School District, said 90 per cent of the district's tax base will be reduced or lost under the plan and called for outside assistance.

He drew guarded support from Planning Director Werner Von Gundell who said the county as a whole "should help make good on part of the loss."

Nixon Envisions Period Of Reform

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon let it be known today that he envisions his second term as a period of reform —"reform using money more effectively" —but ruled out any "massive new social programs."

The President was engaged at the Florida White House in what was described as intensive second term planning, with little time taken to celebrate his avalanche victory Tuesday over George S. McGovern, while Democrats looked ahead to reshaping their leadership.

McGovern flew off this morning to the Virgin Islands to rest while Democratic National Committee officials quickened plans for a reorganizational meeting one month from today in Washington.

Nixon told Cabinet members and other top aides Wednesday, just after his 49-state election sweep, that significant changes would be made not only in personnel but structure of the executive branch in his new term.

He outlined his reform plans in considerable detail, two days before the election, in an interview with Garnett D. Horner, White House correspondent for the Washington Star-News, published today.

He said he had seen speculation that after reelection, since he cannot succeed himself, "I will now be free to advocate some massive new social programs."

He then declared: "Nothing could be further from the mark."

The reforms he said he had in mind were "reform of existing institutions and not the destruction of our tried values in this country ... reform, not just adding more dollars.

Foes Unite For State Tax Reform

Marin County educators who battled against the Watson tax amendment have joined forces with taxpayer and realty groups that strongly supported it, to demand that the Legislature meet its obligation to provide "property tax reform now."

County Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere and Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, have agreed to be co-chairmen of a committee that will spearhead the reform campaign.

Roumiguiere — a real estate firm owner — was a cochairman of the pro-Watson Initiative faction before the amendment died in the voting booth Tuesday. Hollis was a principal opponent of Proposition 14, the Watson measure, because of its predicted harmful impact on school finances.

The two have called a meeting of all interested groups and citizens for 8 p.m. Nov. 22 in the Marin County Civic Center, to plan strategy.

A motorcade from Marin to Sacramento to meet with Gov. Ronald Reagan, State Sen. Peter H. Behr and Assemblyman William T. Bagley will be among proposals to be discussed at the meeting.

"All too often after a hotly contested election, the opponents do nothing constructive to rectify their differences," Roumiguiere and Hollis said today in a joint press release.

They said that since the electorate branded the Watson plan unacceptable, it was up to the lawmakers to provide a better answer.

DOLLAR ESTATE PLAN REJECTED

San Rafael Refuses To Approve Big Development Despite Plea By Freitas

By NELS JOHNSON

The San Rafael City Council last night unanimously rejected a proposal to develop the historic Robert Dollar estate on Mission Avenue, despite an emotional plea by a former Marin Superior Court judge for approval of the plan. (Other San Rafael City Council stories, page 19.)

The action came amid a last-minute offer by developer Thomas R. Schaal to scrap 32 townhouse units and a 48-unit apartment building planned for the 11.1-acre site in favor of a 72-unit apartment building.

Former judge Carlos R. Freitas called the proposal "a plan the city should not and cannot afford to pass by" and urged approval of the revised project.

But the soft-spoken, 68-year-old attorney found that he could not fight city hall.

The council ruuled the new plan out of order and then declared that the original proposal violated all major aspects of the city's building moratorium. Schaal appeared last night to appeal planning commission denial of a use permit under the moratorium and a zoning change needed for the 48-unit structure backed by 32 townhouses.

Schaal's offer to axe the townhouse units was quickly followed by another offer to reduce the townhouse complex by eight units and retain the apartments, bringing the density of the entire project to the 72 units, he said, were allowed under present zoning. The council refused to consider either of the alternate proposals.

Freitas cited the lack of midtown housing for senior citizens, saying an apartment on the parcel would provide tenants with security and privacy within walking distance of offices and shops.

"I've already put in a claim for the southeast corner of the top floor," said the retired judge, adding he and his wife hoped to spend their 50th wedding anniversary there in December 1973.

He called the Dollar mansion — which would have to be razed to make way for the apartment — "old, rambling and not kept in good condition." The building was constructed in a haphazard, "topsy" fashion, he said.

"I happen to have known Mr. Robert Dollar II," he said while gripping a volume of Dollar memoirs. "No member of the Dollar family has given any thought to this (development)."

"Where will the money come from to purchase it and what use will be made of it," he asked, claiming the city lacked adequate funds to maintain the parks it already has.

"This is going to cost money and as a taxpayer I would object to it," he declared.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Nixon Campaign Chief Hired

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Clark MacGregor, who managed President Nixon's re-election campaign, was named Wednesday as a vice president of United Aircraft Corp., the country's eighth largest government contractor.

MacGregor

MacGregor, who served 10 years in the House of Representatives from Minnesota and headed the Committee for the Re-election of the President, will be based in the company's Washington office, United Aircraft President Harry J. Gray said.

The company had "become increasingly concerned over the broadening gap that has occurred in recent years between the business world and the public sector," Gray said. "We have felt that we needed expertise to help us participate in establishing effective communications between these two important segments of our society."

Returns Ruled Out

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A group of 130 disgruntled sailors, mostly blacks who were put ashore after a sitdown strike at sea, today said they would refuse an order to return to the carrier USS Constellation.

The 80,000-ton "Connie" has been in and out of port three times since last Saturday due to problems with aircraft and crew. Its combat training exercises, begun last week but delayed by the disruption, have been postponed until after Thanksgiving.

Lansky In Hospital

MIAMI (UPI) — Meyer Lansky, 70, the reputed financial adviser of the American underworld, was reported in satisfactory condition today in the Mount Sinai Medical Center where he is undergoing treatment for "cardiac insufficiency."

He is free on $250,000 bond plus a signed recognizance note of $400,000 on three charges.

Belfast Bombing

BELFAST (UPI) — A big bomb exploded in a multi-storied parking garage in downtown Belfast today, heavily damaging more than a dozen buildings.

In other Belfast incidents, Roman Catholic extremists beat up and shaved the head of a 13-year-old Protestant girl and paratroops shot a woman fleeing with a wounded gunman's pistol, the army said.

An army spokesman said an estimated 300-pound bomb shattered windows and walls over a 100-yard area in College Square after demolition experts failed to defuse it. No injuries were reported.

He said the Protestant girl apparently was attacked because she was seen talking to a group of British soldiers Wednesday night.

Protest In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — The U.S. Army moved 26 controversial M48 tanks from a supply depot today, touching off wild leftist demonstrations in which at least 84 police and demonstrators were hurt.

The clashes were in front of the U.S. army supply and maintenance depot 24 miles southwest of Tokyo and along the highway from the depot to the port of Yokohama, about 15 miles away.

About 1,500 leftwing studnets and labor unionists gathered in front of the main gate of the depot and another 4,500 on the highway.

Deadline Is Met

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI) — President Idi Amin met his own Wednesday deadline for the expulsion of 40,000 stateless Asians from this East African country, but only technically. About 1,100 Asians he ordered out remained in special U.N. departure centers.

A few hours before the deadline expired, Amin told military and government leaders they must not abuse any stateless Asians left in Uganda past midnight.

"We are human beings," he said, "and we must not mistreat them."

Hell's Angels Informer Attempts To Blind Self

UKIAH, Calif. (UPI) — George "Baby Huey" Wethern, the former Hell's Angel who agreed to turn informer, has been isolated from his wife after jabbing pencils into his eyes in an unsuccessful attempt to blind himself.

When he jabbed the two pencils into his eyes Tuesday night, his wife, Helen, 29, started screaming and Wethern grabbed her and tried to choke her. Deputies freed the woman, who was not hurt.

An eye doctor who examined Wethern Wednesday said he poked holes in the inside corners of both eyes and in the skin above the eyeballs but suffered no permanent damage. Wethern was sent back to jail with a bottle of medication.

"He just went off his rocker," Sheriff Reno Bartolomie told newsmen. "Wethern told me was unnerved and under such pressure that he didn't know what he was doing."

The 260-pound Wethern, 33, a member of the Hell's Angels for 10 years who allowed the motorcycle gang to bury three bodies on his ranch near Ukiah, has agreed to "make a clean breast" of the Angels' activities in return for protection and immunity from prosecution.

Wethern and his wife had been held in "conjugal quarters" at the Mendocino County Jail but were separated after his bizarre effort at self-mutilation.

In Oakland, 140 miles south of Ukiah, jury selection goes into its third day at the "bathtub murder" trial of Hell's Angels leader Ralph "Sonny" Barger, 34, and three other members of the cycle gang. They are charged with slaying a narcotics dealer whose body was found in the bathtub of a blazing Oakland home last spring.

Bombers Hit Viet Convoy Buildup Try

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. B52 bombers dumped thousands of tons of bombs on North Vietnamese southbound convoys Wednesday night and early today in a continuation of the most concentrated American aerial attacks of the Vietnam war.

Military sources said the campaign was designed to blunt a last-ditch drive by the North Vietnamese to move men and military equipment into South Vietnam before a cease-fire banning such movement.

The United States also was trying to rush war materiel in before such a deadline. American military transports and chartered civilian jetliners conducted their biggest airlift to Indochina in more than four years to strengthen South Vietnam's armed forces.

Military sources said shipment of U.S. planes, tanks and other supplies will go on for at least another week.

SeventeenAmerican servicemen were reported killed in South Vietnam last week, the highest total in a month and third highest this year, the U.S. command announced today.

Three battle deaths were reported the previous week.

The latest battle fatalities brought the total war dead to 45,904 Americans, 172,619 South Vietnamese and 903,193 Communists.

An Experiment Has Dividends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For six months the Army allowed young civilians to spend three days at Ft. Jackson, S.C., to determine if they would be happy as soldiers.

About 2,600 men took part in the experiment.

The army announced yesterday it was ending the program but might revive it later after a review, expanding it to a large number of bases.

Mexican Jet Safe After Bizarre Skyjack Flight

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Seventy-three passengers and seven crewmen of a hijacked Mexicana Airlines jet returned to Mexico City today from Havana where they flew 13 members of a Communist urban guerrilla organization holding $320,000 in ransom.

Two Americans were aboard the plane as the hijackers threatened to shoot one hostage every 30 minutes until their demands were met. They were Wesley Parsons and Charles Dill. U.S. Embassy officials helped them through official formalities and then whisked them away.

"There was no mistreatment of the passengers by the hijackers," according to Ricardo Ortiz Chacon, a Mexico City lawyer who was on the Boeing 727 which was taken over by the guerrillas shortly after takeoff from Monterrey in northern Mexico on a flight to the capital city Wednesday.

"At first everyone was nervous. But later we got talking and we even joked a bit. They said they were acting in the fulfilment of an ideal, the economic liberation of Mexico."

The hijackers had let off 20 women, two children and seven men in Monterrey but kept one woman—the niece of Nuevo Leon Gov. Luis M. Farias—among the hostages who made the flight to Cuba.

The hijackers, describing themselves as friends of members of the "Armed Liberation Front" anti-government guerrilla organization, seized the Boeing 727 over Saltillo, about 50 miles south of the northern Mexican industrial city of Monterrey.

After forcing the plane's crew to return to Monterrey, the five spent six hours bargaining with authorities. Officials said they threatened to kill one passenger every 30 minutes unless their demands were met.

Eventually, they collected the ransom and the prisoners plus two unidentified companions who flew with them to Cuba. The six prisoners were released from jail and taken to the plane, one of them a woman who was carried aboard on a stretcher.

The six were arrested one day earlier and named as suspects in a robbery ring. Police said they also recovered $120,000 in stolen money.

Authorities bowed to the gang's demands, Attorney General Pedro Ojeda Paullada said, because the lives of passengers and crew were more important than ransom and the jailing of the six robbery suspects.

The Cuban news agency Prensa Latina called the five hijackers, six prisoners and two other persons who flew with them to Cuba "political prisoners" in a report of their safe arrival in Havana.

A government spokesman said Mexico would ask Cuba to send the 13 hijackers and their associates back for trial, but said he was not sure Cuba would agree.

Nobel Physicist Plans To Resign

BERKELEY (UPI) —Dr. Edwin M. McMillan, the Nobel Prize winning physicist who has headed the Lawrence Berkeley laboratory for 14 years, plans to resign in late 1973.

McMillan, 65, who shared the 1951 Nobel Prize in chemistry with Dr. Glenn Seaborg for his work in discovering the first manmade elements—neptunium and plutonium—has been lab director since 1958.

A Bright Ray For Mayor — Son Wins

CHICAGO (UPI) —Mayor Richard J. Daley found a bright spot in the election returns, even though Chicago's Democratic organization, which he leads, was badly damaged.

"We have elected one of the most able-bodied politicians to the state Senate from the 23rd district," he announced. The winner was Richard M. Daley, the mayor's son.

Commuters Now Clog Wolfe Grade Route

Commuters making a detour to dodge Highway 101 back-ups are beginning to clog Wolfe Grade from San Rafael to Kentfield in the morning commute hours.

In prime traffic time the cars are nose-to-tailing all the way from downtown San Rafael, along D Street and up and over Wolfe Grade to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

California Highway Patrol public information officer Keith Chapman said, "A lot of people are using Wolfe Grade as a means of reaching 101 and avoiding the back-up through San Rafael, and trying to get back on at Greenbrae or Corte Madera."

Officer Chapman said more and more drivers are getting off 101, taking alternate roads and rejoining the freeway further south. Bottlenecks created by work on the Richardson Bay Bridge continue to delay commute traffic and are expected to continue at least until Christmas.

"They can't beat the back-up completely; they've got to get back on," explained officer Chapman, "but they prolong the wait rather than get caught at the San Rafael Second Street on-ramp."

No accidents on Wolfe Grade have been reported lately, said San Rafael traffic police Sergeant Harry W. Ingwerson. He suggested the traffic over the hill is further intensified by College of Marin traffic.

There are 5,800 daytime students at the Kentfield campus, where classes begin at 8 a.m. The college's 1,200 parking spaces are invariably filled. However, an increased number of students, particularly those from North Marin, are riding transit district buses to school. The buses do not use Wolfe Grade; they turn off the freeway at the Sir Francis Drake Blvd., off-ramp.

The highway patrol reported varying degrees of success in their endeavors to smooth the path of traffic across the Richardson Bay Bridge. On Monday the height of the commute traffic backed up as far as the San Rafael viaduct, on Tuesday as far as Greenbrae and yesterday as far as California Park Hill.

Last Friday, when it rained, the log-jam of cars was solid as far north as Lucas Valley.

"These detour drivers don't really save any time," added officer Chapman, "because they get held up again at the on-ramps when they try to get back on again at Corte Madera or Greenbrae."

Jury Acquits Woman In Couple's Shooting Scrap

Two of Marin's belligerent lovers have survived not only bullets, but also criminal charges of shooting at each other.

A jury in Marin Superior Court Tuesday acquitted Maxine Hall, 21, on a charge of shooting Kenny Ray White, 20, of Marin City. The young San Rafael woman said she shot White in self defense May 30 at a public housing project on Cole Drive.

Witnesses in the two trials told of beatings, threats, knifings, gun waving, shooting, window smashing and firebombing.

The relationship of the two had become so volatile by last December that a Marin judge ordered White to stay away from Miss Hall.

She testified that in the days prior to the shooting she was threatened, her car was twice set on fire and its windshield was smashed.

She said White came toward her when she met him on a walkway of one of the high rise apartment buildings so she fired. White said he was fleeing when bullets hit both his legs.

He was hospitalized briefly, then jailed to await trial for allegedly shooting at Miss Hall.

The couple, whose families are neighbors in Marin City, have been friends for years despite the violent encounters, according to witnesses, but each professed to be terrified of the other.

Head Of Hospital Group Raps AMA

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The newly-elected chairman of the American Hospital Association Wednesday accused the leadership of the American Medical Association of being "under the umbrella" in the face of a growing health care crisis.

John W. Kauffman criticized the AMA for not supporting the hospital association's proposal for a national health insurance plan before Congress.

The hospital association favors establishment of health care corporations that would serve as an administrative umbrella to contract with hospitals, doctors, dentists and other health care professionals.

Kauffman said such a plan would prevent fragmentation and duplication of medical services, but the AMA contends it would give hospital administrators too much authority in running the health corporations.

Task Force Sets Traffic Session

Traffic congestion, access to Bellam Boulevard and plans for the San Rafael Post Office will be discussed by the East San Rafael Task Force at noon Nov. 15 in Celia's 5 Restaurant.

San Rafael Postmaster Hugh Cassidy and Robert Kinser, a postal aide, will speak at the meeting.

President Views Second Term Goals

tively will be the mark of this administration rather than simply coming up with huge new bundles of money to throw at the problems."

Nixon made clear he never had any doubt that he would win. Of McGovern he said bluntly, "He was defeated the day he was nominated. The issue in this election was his views."

The President said when a candidate "takes basically an extreme position on issues, he inevitably splits his party and assures his defeat." He said McGovern's views "turned off the solid majority of the American people."

In the interview, Nixon said, "When I tell you I am completely confident that we are going to have a settlement (in Vietnam), you can bank on it."

He pledged anew that some U.S. economic aid would be available for North Vietnam when the fighting is over. And while he is expected to concentrate heavily on foreign policy in his second term as he did the first, he doubted "the next four years will be as spectacular as the year 1972" which featured Peking and Moscow summits and major international monetary moves.

In the interview he said "we have passed through a very great spiritual crisis in this country" in the 1960s when he said "so many Americans, and particularly so many young Americans, lost faith in the American system, in their country's foreign policy."

As for his campaign and his plans for the next four years on the home front, he told Horner that he "didn't go out with a whole bag full of goodies.

"I have stuck by the program I have and I haven't laid out a lot of new goodies.

"...It is our responsibility to find a way to reform our government institutions so that this new spirit of independence, self-reliance, pride, that I sense in the American people, can be nurtured. I think it is out there."

Although Nixon's landslide Tuesday carried every state *except Massachusetts (plus the District of Columbia), the Dem*ocrats gained two seats in the Senate to give them a 57-43 edge and easily retained control of the House.

The results of the congressional elections meant that Nixon, in his second term, would face a highly-independent Congress and an even more liberal Senate which is certain to demand more spending and higher priorities for domestic programs.

It was clear, however, that Nixon intends first to reshuffle his own administration, probably even before Congress reconvenes Jan. 3.

After a half-hour White House staff meeting in Key Biscayne Wednesday, White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman passed the word that the traditional letters of resignation, always tendered at the end of a term, were expected on Nixon's desk promptly.

The White House press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, said Nixon already had set into motion a "significant reorganization of the White House staff and the government in the next term."

Among those expected to quit were Defense Secretary Melvin Laird and Housing Secretary George Romney. Other likely departures, although probably not so quickly, were Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst and Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson.

Before leaving for his vacation, McGovern told reporters aboard his plane while flying back to Washington, "I really mean it," (promiing he would never again seek the White House).

But there was little clear indication what McGovern planned in the way of assuming the titular leadership of the Democratic party, traditionally his until the next convention.

Frank Mankiewicz, his chief political adviser, said that McGovern, only 50, has "the leadership of the party" and will hold on until a new standard-bearer emerges.

Surveying the wreckage of the returns, prominent Democrats began demanding that the party dump Mrs. Jean Westwood, hand-picked by McGovern as chairman of the national committee and a symbol of his reform movement.

Even before the last votes were counted, Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas, Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky, and Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma were calling for Mrs. Westwood's resignation.

Although Mrs. Westwood is basically a McGovern symbol (she played only a minor role in the campaign). Her removal, in favor of a centrist chairman, would be the first step in taking party leadership away from the McGovern forces. The showdown is due Dec. 9 when the national committee meets for the first time since the election.

$12,000 Damage To Fairfax Home

A fire, which broke out in the living room of a Fairfax home today, consumed the contents of that room, the kitchen and two bedrooms and caused about $12,000 structural damage.

According to the Fairfax fire department, the blaze began at about 7:50 a.m. and spread throughout the upper floor of a home at 199 Laurel Avenue.

Two residents of the house, Kathy Borte and Barbara Bruske, were reportedly asleep when the fire started. According to Fire Chief Charles F. Thornton, one of the women burned the back of her hand.

The blaze was under control in less than an hour, said Thornton. The cause of the fire was unknown.

PLAN

F. West noted, however, that West Marin residents have a total tax rate substantially lower than those in Eastern Marin.

Strong support for the plan was voiced by representatives of the Tomales Bay and Inverness Improvement Associations, the Marin Conservation League and Environmental Action Committee of West Marin.

John Reynolds, a member of the Tomales Bay and Inverness associations, told the commission the most urgent problem facing West Marin is the need for a public transit system to handle the increasing flow of visitors to the Point Reyes National Seashore and surrounding communities.

"We strongly urge that future plans be based on pollution-free modes of public transportation operating on separate rights-of-way . . ." he told the commission.

He said freeways or new roads would be at odds with the goals of the plan to preserve open space and agriculture in rural Marin.

Marshall dairyman William Straus said he endorsed the plan and urged the county to work with the Regional Water Quality Control Board to solve agricultural waste problems.

Dr. Michael Whitt, of Point Reyes Station, cautioned the planning commission to use care in planning motel, restaurant and recreation facilities for visitors to the seashore and urged they be kept to a minimum.

"The natural beauty of West Marin doesn't need added attractions such as golf courses, Frontierlands, Marinelands or African Safaris," he said.

DOLLAR BRIDGE

owners along Bonnie Brae Drive, said San Rafael's moratorium prohibits development of the site due to alternative uses that may be posed by the city's future general plan.

Neighbors have no objection to development of up to 19 units allowed under single-family zoning on the rear of the parcel, according to Schaal. "Neighbors made their investments on the basis of zoning," he said.

George J. Silvestri of the San Rafael Historic Preservation Committee said that Schaal had submitted a "shallow and inadequate" environmental impact report. The report claims that development of the Dollar site with 80 units "will have no significant impact on the existing environment."

He said the Dollar family was sympathetic with attempts to preserve the mansion but "is not able to help us" because of a contract with Schaal. The developer has an option to buy the property from Dollar estate trustees for $361,000.

Silvestri said the preservation committee had registered the mansion as an historical monument with the state parks department. Should the federal government declare the mansion an historical monument, acquisition funding of up to 50 per cent will be available, he said.

Mary Dekker, chairman of the preservation committee, called for the "vision and imagination" of the council in "saving the city's architectural heritage for a cultural community center."

Bruce W. Anderson, chairman of the San Rafael Library board, said trustees opposed the development of the site because additional traffic congestion along Mission Avenue would be hazardous for library patrons.

John Bryan, director of the Strybing Arboretum in Golden Gate Park, called the parcel a "valuable greenbelt that will spark community spirit."

Schaal noted that San Rafael Parks Director Andrew J. Snyder has indicated the parcel is economically infeasible for park purposes. The developer said that requests for $127,500 national monument preservation funds available in California have exceeded $3 million.

He also declared his development would generate less traffic than would a public facility on the site.

The council flatly denied Schaal's appeal, saying the project had encountered substantial public opposition, the density was too great and the land not substantially flat.

Councilman John A. Miskimen asked the developer to resubmit his alternative proposal for a 72-unit apartment building only, saying the plan "opens up all sorts of exciting possibilities." The councilman suggested Schall place the apartment proposed fronting Mission Avenue in the rear of the parcel, allowing the mansion to remain intact.

cials of the bridge district, State Division of Highways, highway patrol and contractors. Veteran bridge director Daniel F. Del Carlo of San Francisco also turned out for the event, which he said was "too interesting to miss."

The two traveling bridges, to serve as work platforms in a $2.8 million maintenance project, were driven down the Waldo Grade from their assembly area by 32-wheel trucks and onto the bridge, where they were secured to 70-foot-long booms.

Showers of sparks lit the night as workmen cut the bridges from their wheeled platforms minutes after the 3 a.m. closing. They were hoisted and swung across the roadway to the accompaniment of hand signals and hoarse shouts over the roar of the crane engines. Riggers worked on the cables without safety belts, at times on one foot, as they pushed and pulled the bridges to seat their wheels on the cables.

Once in place, they were anchored with collars of steel cables. Padded slings also were wrapped under the cables to prevent high winds from lifting the bridges. One end of each can flex as the cables bend in the wind.

The bridges will travel up and down the cables by jacking themselves along on one-inch steel ropes to be strung down the main cables. They move on steel wheels rimmed with three inches of rubber.

How fast will they travel? "Damn slow," said Shields. Neither end can get more than three inches ahead or behind the other, he said.

The maintenance project will replace 194 of the 500 vertical suspender ropes that support the deck from the cables.

The northern bridge will be shifted to the San Francisco end of the span next March, an operation which will require another closing. A third closing will come next November when the work is completed and both bridges are hauled down.

Cities' Growth Study Endorsed

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night endorsed a preliminary "spheres of influence study" for future growth of Marin's 11 cities.

The study, prepared by the county administrator's office, notes that two major areas — Strawberry and San Quentin — are in dispute between cities.

Michael A. Chrystal, assistant executive officer to the commission, said hearings on the study will be held in various communities before final adoption by the commission.

The study is required by state law, and seeks to establish the maximum service area for each city based on projected population growth and land use.

Rowers Refused Storage In Park

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission last night refused permission for the Marin Rowing Club to store rowing shells in Piper Park.

Harlan Barry, city park and recreation director, said the commission said the park's master plan bans buildings in the park.

Barry told commissioners he will approach the Corps of Engineers for their reaction on a proposal to put more fill at the edge of Piper Park. The suggestion came from the city council, which noted that the park, while on the edge of Larkspur Creek, has no provision for public access to the water.

Larkspur Will Try Again On Bike Path

The Larkspur City Council last night decided to make at least one more attempt to talk the Vincilione family into allowing a bicycle path across its property on Magnolia Avenue, primarily for Redwood High School students.

The project, for which the city has money set aside, has been bogged down for months while the Vinciliones, executors of the Tiscornia estate, have fussed with the city in other matters relating to development of the property.

Mayor William G. Fleckles suggested last night that rather than asking for an easement for the path that possibly the Vinciliones might grant a revocable permit for use of the path.

Councilman Joan Sestak noted that three students have already been hit by cars in busy traffic in the area and suggested that until a bike path is arranged, youngsters be encouraged to use the sidewalk.

Fleckles agreed to set a meeting with the executors when they return from trips out of town.

The Larkspur City Council also:

UNDERGROUNDING — Learned that undergrounding of utilities along Magnolia Avenue involving six homes will be completed by about Dec. 15 but that poles will not come down for some weeks after then.

STUDIES — Formally adopted interim policies for environmental impact studies, required for many developments because of a California Supreme Court Decision. The council excluded, however, a 30-day limit for appeal procedures originally considered. Fleckles voted against the policies because he thought there were too long time periods in the procedures.

DEDICATION — Tentatively set 11 a.m. Dec. 9 for the dedication of the new police department building.

REVIEW — Appointed Councilman Robert H. Lee to form a committee to review sign ordinance policies.

INTERCHANGE — Agreed to write a letter to Corte Madera officials opposing an interchange on Highway 101 that would include an arterial through Larkspur at William Avenue.

TREES — Approved removal of certain trees, including one large one said to be dangerous by tree experts, on the Vincilione property.

Black Is Elected

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dr. George Washington Garner was elected president of San Francisco's Police Commission on Wednesday, the first Black to hold the position.

Hijack Suspect Left Clue Trail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A federal prosecutor said Wednesday that Lubomir Peichev left a trail of clues that proved he was waiting at an airstrip 400 miles north of Vancouver, B.C. for a hijacked airliner.

Peichev is on trial in U.S. District Court as an accessory to last July's unsuccessful attempt to skyjack a jetliner for $800,000 ransom.

Dimitri Alexiev and Michael Azmanoff, the alleged hijackers, were killed along with a passenger during a shootout with FBI agents while the plane was grounded at San Francisco International Airport.

Jerry K. Cimmet, an assistant U.S. attorney, said in opening arguments Wednesday that Peichev helped plan the hijacking and was waiting for the airliner with a rented plane and car at British Columbia's Puntzi Lake airstrip.

Clark's Views On The Nixon Victory

GRANVILLE, Ohio (UPI) — Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark said Wednesday night President Nixon's re-election showed Americans were "afraid of freedom."

"The vote indicates Americans would like not to move toward equality for awhile, it's too hard. We don't like all that turbulence," Clark told students at Denison University.

PENINSULA'S FUTURE — The Hutchinson Rock Quarry at Greenbrae is a scene of industry today, but what will happen to it within the next few years will concern the Larkspur Town Meeting on Saturday. T.I. Properties, a Los Angeles based investment firm, has commissioned a plan which proposes filling the two bowls of the quarry with up to 1,550 apartment units. The ridge would support a "recreation-oriented motel."

APARTMENTS OR NOT?

The Tamalpais retirement residence (left) on Bon Air Hill and apartments around the Corte Madera Creek are an example of problems to be considered at the Larkspur Town Meeting from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at Redwood High School.

Do residents want more high rise structures on the San Quentin Peninsula? One of four workshop morning sessions will be devoted to Larkspur's ordinances, including their adequacy for skyline and creekside zoning.

BIKES OR TRANSIT? — The abandoned railroad right of way behind the Larkspur Corte Madera School curves beneath the trees in pastoral silence, seemingly unaware that it could become either a bike path or a rapid transit route. Larkspur Town Meeting will discuss the city's increasing traffic problems and "congenial" uses of the railroad.

Hub Man Arrested On Drug, Murder Plot Counts

San Francisco police and federal narcotics agents arrested a San Francisco druggist in San Anselmo yesterday on charges of illegally selling cocaine and trying to hire a man to kill his wife.

Robert J. Adami, 36, was quoted by officers as saying his wife, Karen, 21, "knew too much about his life style."

The arrest was made outside a Scenic Avenue residence where undercover agents said a purchase from the druggist of an ounce of cocaine for $1,000 had been arranged.

Inspector Ken King and Sgt. Jack O'Shea of the San Francisco police said that since September, undercover agents have been investigating Adami's pharmacy in San Francisco because he previously had been convicted of issuing illegal narcotics prescriptions.

During the investigation, the officers continued, agents were able to buy cocaine from Adami and one of them was asked to find someone to kill the wife.

Mrs. Adami, Adami was quoted as saying, had moved out of their Cupertino home with their 5-year-old daughter and was living with her grandmother in Palo Alto.

The undercover man approached about the killing told San Francisco police, who provided a man who posed as a "syndicate killer" and was given a down payment of $500, King and O'Shea said.

The money was to have been part of the $2,000 Adami agreed to pay the killer, King said.

"Adami handled the whole thing in a cold, businesslike manner, but he seemed relieved and happy when the arrangements were concluded," King added.

When arrested in San Anselmo in the narcotics charge Adami again appeared cool, police said.

But when brought to San Francisco and shown a warrant charging him with conspiracy to commit murder, "he was shocked," O'Shea declared.

Police Searching For Houseguest

Emelia Aguilar described her houseguest to Corte Madera police as "an over-age hippie in a trench coat." She told police she took Maria Bettina Libby, 60, into her house at 239 Chapman Drive for a few days as she had nowhere to live.

But when her guest departed, Mrs. Aguilar complained to police yesterday, a post office box key, a thermometer and a pair of tennis shoes left the house too.

Tentative Nod To Plans For A Sambo's

According to zoning administrator Howard R. McGill, the committee liked the building's design and siting, but disapproved of the restaurant's proposed sign.

At a meeting Monday night, the Mill Valley City Council expressed alarm at the proposed restaurant. Councilman Robert E. Burton said the city's control over restaurants in commercially zoned areas might be inadequate.

He suggested an emergency ordinance which would tighten the council's control over such uses in a commercial zone, but agreed to postpone consideration of such an ordinance until Nov. 20.

The committee granted design approval providing the firm adds two additional parking spaces to the lot, dedicates a strip of land along the rear of its property for a bicycle path and considers constructing a wall between its parking lot and a neighboring convalescent home.

The architects were asked to return with revisions to their plans at the committee's next meeting Nov. 21.

Director Named

Redevelopment On Plans List

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night decided to discuss the town's redevelopment plan at its meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

The commission also set a public hearing for Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall on interim modifications to the town's general plan recommended by planning consultants Sedway and Cooke.

The modifications are to eliminate conflicts within the existing plan and requirements of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission and mostly relate to preservation of wildlife and tidelands.

Tax Cuts Asked For The Elderly

By a unanimous vote, the Sausalito City Council last night agreed to recommend that the State of California use its share of federal revenue sharing funds for property tax relief for the elderly.

The council, which will forward its suggestions to the state, acted on the recommendation of City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr, who proposed that the state use its entire share of the funds "to completely do away with property taxes on the homes of older, retired persons."

"These people have worked hard all their lives and paid taxes to support schools and government," the city manager said. "It just isn't fair that they should be ruined in their old age because of taxes." The state is expected to receive a total of $556 million from revenue sharing, $185.4 million as the state's share and the rest, $371 million for local governments. St. Cyr believes the state should use the $185.4 million to reimburse cities, counties and school districts for revenues which would be lost if property taxes for retired persons were eliminated.

If there is not enough revenue sharing money to do away with 100 per cent of the taxes on older persons' homes, the city manager said the state should eliminate as much of those taxes as available funds will permit.

"People are always talking about tax relief," the city manager said. "I think this is a good place to start."

The council was in total agreement.

Sausalito, along with other Bay Area local government agencies, had been asked by Assemblyman Willie Brown, D-San Francisco, to recommend how the state share should be spent.

Sausalito's share of the funds will be approximately $22,800, although the city has not yet received the money or decided how to spend it.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

HEARING — Set a public hearing on a variance and conditional use application from Sam Zakessian to remodel and expand Rico's restaurant for Nov. 21. The planning commission has already approved the permit and variance, needed since the restaurant is nonconforming.

DOCK — Approved a variance application from Myron Spaulding to permit him to enlarge a dock at his boat building and repair operation on Gate 5 Road.

APPEAL — Overturned a planning commission denial of a variance to Lloyd Flood, who has sought the variance to be excused from city height limitation regulations for three dwellings at 74, 76, and 78 Harrison Avenue. The council approved the variance after hearing Flood's appeal.

SEWER PLANT — Agreed not to require the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District to provide an environmental impact report on its proposed expansion of a pumping station on Main Street.

AGREEMENT — Signed an agreement with the Sausalito School District to lease district land on which the city's tennis courts are located for $1 a year. The city will pay the district $1,000 a year for maintenance of the courts.

POSTPONEMENT — At the request of developer Edward R. Fitzsimmons, agreed to postpone further consideration of his tentative map for a subdivision on Wolfback Ridge to its Dec. 5 meeting.

HOUSEBOAT ORDINANCE — Heard first reading of a houseboat ordinance which would require all houseboats on the city's water front to conform to fire and safety codes and dispose of sewage, either through connection to a sewer or a holding tank system.

IMPACT — Voted to exempt these projects from the requirement of preparing environmental impact studies: remodeling of the Bank of America building, conversion of Elliot's Laundry into office space, and a proposed restaurant, to be built by a Markham Corporation at Humboldt and Johnson streets.

Man Arrested On Knife Count

A 21-year-old El Cerrito man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possession and assault with a deadly weapon, San Rafael police reported today.

Alan Roger Albonico was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, Albonico and a passenger, John M. MacLeod, of 675 Peach Street, Novato, put 78 cents worth of gasoline in their car at the Standard station at 3 Loch Lomond, San Rafael, but had only 75 cents to pay for it. In the argument, police reported that Albonico pulled a knife from his coat and threatened attendant Michael Gordon Costa. Owner Harold John Lansing called police who arrested Albonico but did not hold MacLeod.

Talks On Environment Tomorrow

Three prominent environmentalists will appear in a panel discussion "The First Step to Survival" tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at College of Marin's Olney Hall.

All attended the recent United Nations Environmental Conference in Stockholm and will report on its accomplishments, the importance of universal action in world environmental affairs, and their own attitudes.

Panelists are Alfred Heller of Kentfield, president of "California Tomorrow"; Joan McIntyre of Bolinas, president of Project Jonah (an international society devoted to protection of whales and dolphins), and Harold Gilliam, San Francisco Chronicle writer on environmental affairs.

Moderator will be Harold Gregg, executive director of the Marin Conservation League, which is co-sponsoring the free event with the Marin Chapter of the United Nations Association.

Appeal By Calley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Court of Military Review will open hearings Dec. 4 on 1st Lt. William Calley's appeal from his murder conviction in the My Lai massacre case.

Traditional School Programs To Return

The Kentfield School District board last night reviewed programs planned for seventh and eighth grades at Adaline E. Kent Junior High School and decided to return to tradition.

Last year the school had a mixed-grade "school within a school" in addition to more usual seventh and eighth grades, reported interim superintendent Byron W. Mauzy.

After hearing two points of view from faculty, said Mauzy, the board opted for the traditional seven period schedule in grades. There will be some grade-mixing, reported Mauzy, but not in a school-within-a-school framework. Details will be worked out at the board's Nov. 27 meeting, he said.

Trustees also were informed that bids for the hearing handicapped school to be constructed in the rear of the Kent Elementary School will include a fence around the site during concrete-pouring, and assign a safety guard. Deliveries will have to be made before or after school hours.

The bids will be opened Nov. 16 and it is anticipated construction will be complete by June.

San Francisco Crime Is Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police Chief Donald M. Scott reported Wednesday that there were 4,189 major crimes in San Francisco during October, compared to 4,770 for the same month a year ago.

During the first 10 months of this year there were 39,560 major crimes compared to 48,761 during the same period a year ago, he added.

In October the number of burglaries, robberies auto thefts, aggravated assaults and rapes decreased while the number of grand thefts and homicides increased. There were six killings, compared with five for the previous period.

Television Theft

A 19-inch portable television set worth $50 was stolen from a store room at the Edgewater Inn Tuesday night, manager Edward Smith reported to Corte Madera police yesterday.

Conditions On Ferry Set

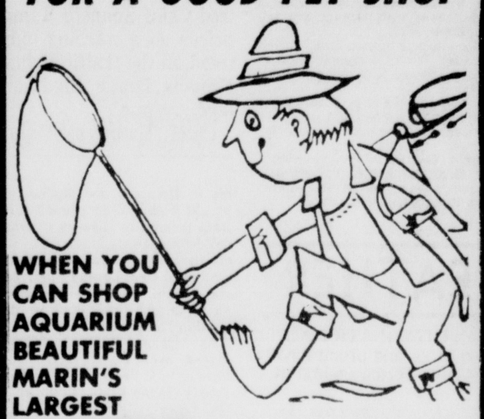

The Sausalito City Council last night agreed to ask the Golden Gate Bridge District to limit its ferry terminal in downtown Sausalito to restrooms, ticket booths, benches and a movable canopy for inclement weather.

A list of conditions which the council would like the district to meet in its ferry operation will now be forwarded to the bridge district board.

The council also is asking the bridge district to limit its buses, help the city plan and finance a shuttle system of transportation between northern Sausalito and downtown and eliminate buses when such a system is operative.

In addition, the council wants the district to rent 320 spaces for commuter parking in the north, provide a walkway for ferry patrons between the terminal and the buses, pay the city rent for the terminal site, prepare an environment impact statement, and let city select a study consultant, and appoint a permanent committee in planning for the operation and terminal.

ALMANAC

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, Nov. 9, the 314th day of 1972 with 52 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

American actress Marie Dressler was born Nov. 9, 1873.

On this day in history:

In 1872, fire broke out in a Boston warehouse. By the next day, 800 buildings had been destroyed with damage estimated at $75 million.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt set up the Civil Works Administration as an emergency agency to provide jobs for the unemployed.

In 1953, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that major league baseball did not come within the scope of the federal antitrust laws.

A thought for the day: American writer O. Henry said, "What a woman wants is what you're out of. She wants more of a thing when it is scarce."

Kentfield Fire Light Will Warn Drivers

The Kentfield Fire Protection District board last night authorized Chief Kenneth Kamp to get prices on a warning light to be fixed on the traffic lights on Sir Francis Drake Blvd. and College Avenue.

Chief Kamp said the light, probably flashing red with a siren attached, would be activated every time fire trucks left the fire house. Motorists often don't notice the fire engines until they've almost collided, he said.

The directors authorized Kamp to get permission from the Bay Area Pollution Control District to burn down an old house directly behind the Kentfield Fire Station, said Kamp. It's abandoned, and the owners have asked if firemen would like to burn it as a training exercise.

Young GOP Of Marin Picks Slate

Robert B. Parks of Novato last night was elected president of the Marin County Young Republicans, succeeding Gerald J. Hood of Mill Valley.

Parks, of 404 Ignacio Boulevard, is employed by Bankers Life Insurance Company. He served as secretary to the Republican group this year.

Other officers elected last night were Ruth Ann Morton of Novato, vice president; Steven Endicott of Larkspur, treasurer; and Stephanie Roman of Novato, secretary. Each will serve a one-year term beginning in January.

The group also agreed to consponsor a Christmas party for needy children with the Novato Needs Center.

Union School Sets Christmas Party

Union School will hold its annual Christmas party at noon Dec. 13 at the school with a Christmas tree, exchange of gifts and potluck luncheon.

Students and Mother's Club members will participate in the party, according to trustee Eleanor Pomi. Plans were reported to the Union School District board last night.

Another Arrest In Death Case

A second man was arrested yesterday at his San Francisco home during investigation of the knifing of a 33-year-old San Francisco man, who bled to death from the wound near China Camp Monday.

San Francisco police arrested William A. Graves, 38, on suspicion of participating in the slaying of William Ray Ridge, 33. Ridge, moaning and bleeding profusely was found by a young San Rafael couple about 9:15 p.m. Monday.

Arrested Tuesday at his parents' home in Oakland was Donald Eugene Cooksey, 30. Marin sheriff's investigators today said they believe Cooksey actually wielded the weapon.

Sheriff's Lt. Guido Battaglia said Cooksey and Ridge were arguing about a mutual girl friend while drinking in the back seat of a car as they rode through Marin. Graves and a fourth man identified only as Lucky were in front, Battaglia said.

The car pulled off north San Pedro Road so the men could relieve themselves and Ridge was stabbed as the argument continued, according to Battaglia.

Ridge was described as a welfare recipient with arrests for drunkenness, shoplifting and disturbing the peace.

No charge had been filed against either Cooksey or Graves this morning, but Battaglia said charges might be forthcoming in the afternoon.

Hanoi Sees No Early Peace, But U.S. Optimistic In Paris

PARIS (UPI) —North Vietnam said today there no longer can be an early peace in Vietnam, but the United States said it expects an agreement soon at the next meeting between negotiator Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi officials.

"Peace is not for tomorrow," said North Vietnam's negotiator, Nguyen Minh Vy, after the 166th session of the peace talks.

"The reason is simple. The United States refused to sign the peace agreement it has already agreed to."

The U.S. delegation was more optimistic after the regular talks session, which lasted a comparatively brief four hours.

The chief U.S. negotiator, Ambassador William J. Porter, expressed belief the talks were entering their final stages.

"With every passing day, peace comes perceptibly nearer," Porter said.

The spokesman for the U.S. delegation, David Lambertson, told newsmen after the session that another secret meeting between Kissinger and Hanoi officials will take place "as soon as Hanoi so decides." The United States requested the meeting to clarify some portions of the nine-point agreement after it was announced Oct. 26, and refused to sign the document Oct. 31 as the Vietnamese Communists demanded.

"We are optimistic that an additional private meeting will take place fairly soon between Prof. Kissinger and Hanoi negotiators and that, in that meeting, agreement will be reached," Lambertson said.

Asked why Porter was so optimistic, Lambertson said: "Ambassador Porter was speaking out of a profound knowledge of the actual situation."

The Vietnamese Communist delegations again accused the United States of delaying the signing the agreement in order to have time to build up military supplies in South Vietnam. The Viet Cong negotiator, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, said a giant U.S. airlift was pouring 1,500 tons of weapons daily into the country.

Porter told the Vietnamese Communist delegations that President Nixon's re-election was "a massive endorsement" of his Vietnam policies and said this meant enhanced chances for peace.

"We reaffirm our good faith as we approach what we believe can be the final stage of our negotiations," Porter said.

"When we sign an agreement, we will scrupulously observe all its provisions in the expectation that you will do likewise."

Porter said the shipment of armaments to South Vietnam would end as soon as a cease-fire agreement is signed, as the agreement itself provides. He said the United States was not alone in trying to strengthen its ally.

"This is similar to what you are seeking to do for your own forces," he said to the North Vietnamese delegates. "We see in these supply efforts a state of affairs which would be halted as soon as a final agreement is reached."

Meanwhile the chief aide to adviser Kissinger flew to Saigon today to confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu on his objections to the language of a proposed Vietnam peace settlement.

Gen. Alexander M. Haig was expected to meet tomorrow with Thieu. The White House announcement of his departure said he would return Saturday or Sunday.

Thieu is concerned that a heretofore unpublished passage in the agreement would create a coalition government in disguise—something he has steadfastly refused to accept.

Only a summary of the paragraph was included in a Hanoi Radio cease-fire agreement broadcast Oct. 26 and in Kissinger's news conference later that day. Neither revealed the semantic questions raised by the Vietnamese text.

This was the passage of Point 4 of the proposed agreement which Kissinger mentioned when he said there were "linguistic problems" still to be resolved with the North Vietnamese.

Lynch Says He'll Leave Commission

Marin County planning commissioner William B. Lynch of Novato said today he will resign next week from the post he has held since July 1971.

Lynch, manager of a soft drink distributorship, said the resignation was prompted by a job promotion moving him from Marin to San Francisco.

The 30-year-old commissioner was appointed to the post by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste who is expected to make another appointment Tuesday.

During his term on the commission, Lynch has been a strong supporter of open space and agricultural rezoning as a means of controlling urban growth.

He resides with his wife, Kathi, and three children at 450 Corte Norte but will move to San Francisco.

Water Purchase Contract Signed

With one dissenting vote, directors of the Marin Municipal Water District voted yesterday to sign a contract to obtain up to 4,000 cubic feet of water annually from the North Marin Water District and Sonoma County Water Agency.

The water will reach Marin Municipal through the proposed North Marin intertie the district plans to build next year.

The vote was 3-1, with Director Ronald T. Stafford opposing the contract and Director Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. absent. Stafford objected to contracting for the water because he said the move will "tie the district to the Russian River as a source of supply." Stafford also opposes the intertie.

Under the contract, the district will pay $76 per acre-foot for the water, or a total of $304,000 annually for the entire 4,000 acre feet, if it is provided.

The contract guarantees the district 1,000 acre-feet a year. The remainder will be provided on a surplus basis, so long as the water is available in the North Marin and Sonoma agencies.

The contract will now be presented to the board of the two other agencies for their approval.

Marin Municipal Water District Board Also:

DEPARTMENT — Agreed to establish a department of community interest under the district's division of land management and promote William Grant, a special projects engineer, to head the new operation. The board emphasized the department will not be a "public relations outfit," but will handle questions and complaints from customers and work to educate the public about the watershed and water conservation. Stafford voted against the department, saying he feared it would be used to "sell bond issues," even though his fellow directors said that was not its purpose.

NOMINATION — Passed a resolution supporting the nomination of Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger for vice president of the American Water Works Association.

SEMINAR — Agreed to spend $800 to send J. Dietrich Stroeh, manager of engineering to a management seminar at Michigan State University in January and $800 to send four persons, still to be chosen, to a management seminar in San Francisco Nov. 20-22.

STUDY — Voted to hire the consulting firm of Bartle-Wells Associates to develop a financial and administrative study for a proposed consolidated waste treatment system for southern and central Marin. For $12,500, the firm will prepare studies for that portion of the system which collects the sewage and transports it to treatment facilities.

IMPACT STATEMENT — Hired the firm of Jones and Stokes Associates for $16,474 to prepare an environmental impact statement for the proposed southern and central Marin waste treatment and disposal system.

CONTRACTS — Awarded contracts for purchase of equipment to low bidders: $3,463 to P. E. O'Hair and Co. for flanges and welding fittings; $7,306 to Groeniger and Co. for gate valves; a total of $28,976 to Groeniger and Co. and Allis Chalmers for valves for the North Marin intertie and $7,722 to Floway Pumps Inc. of Fresno for booster pumps.

ARCHITECTS — Agreed to hire the architectural firm of Crawford and Banning for $2,450 to prepare plans and designs for the Ignacio pump station.

FIRM — Approved the employment of Environmental Impact Corporation of San Francisco to prepare an environmental impact statement on the proposed Tiburon Ecumenical Association's Hilarita housing project.

McGovern Will Take Vacation

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George S. McGovern and his wife, Eleanor, were flying to the Virgin Islands today to rest up from his long campaign for the presidency.

Aides said the McGoverns would stay in the islands a week to 10 days.

The South Dakota Democrat arrived back in Washington Wednesday afternoon from Sioux Falls, S.D., where he received the news Tuesday night that he had lost by a landslide to President Nixon.

About 200 of McGovern's supporters, led by vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver, met McGovern's chartered Dakota Queen II at Washington's National Airport.

Victory Of Nixon Sets Off Protest

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Approximately 400 torch-carrying, whistle-blowing demonstrators paraded near the University of California campus Wednesday night protesting President's Nixonfs victory and the Vietnam war.

Police reported demonstrators shattered "about a dozen" large plate glass windows of at least two banks, automobile companies, a movie theater and other stores along Shattuck and Telegraph avenues.

No injuries were reported and no arrests made.

"They're letting off a little steam," said one police officer. "This is fairly mild compared to what has been going on over here in the past."

Wife Of Begich Eyes Candidacy

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Pegge Begich, wife of missing Rep. Nick Begich, DAlaska, may be a candidate for her husband's seat if a special election is delcared.

Mrs. Begich said Wednesday just before flying to Washington, D.C. that she was "very open to that possibility, but of course that is a decision the children would have to be involved in." The Begichs' have six children, the oldest of whom is 14.

Begich, re-elected Tuesday to Alaska's only House seat, has been missing since Oct. 16 with House Majority Leader Hale Boggs and two others. Boggs also was re-elected Tuesday.

MOSCOW (AP) — Writer Yury Galanskov died Saturday while undergoing surgery for cancer at the labor camp where he was serving a seven-year sentence for "anti-Soviet activities," dissident sources reported today. He was 33.

Connection Fees Win Board Nod

An ordinance establishing connection fees for new customers in the Marin Municipal Water District was adopted yesterday by the district board.

The regulation, which goes into effect today, will require fees for new services ranging from $200 for an apartment to $350 for a single family home.

Businesses, industries and public agencies seeking connections will be billed $200 per acre-foot of water used annually, with a minimum charge of $350.

No one appeared to protest the ordinance, although several representatives of the building industry had objected to the proposed fees at the board's last meeting.

At that time the board agreed to incorporate a variance procedure into the regulation after Carl Brown, executive director of the Redwood Empire Building Association, said the fee would create unfair hardships for those who have already obtained financing for their projects.

The ordinance provides that, for one year after its effective date, directors will consider exemptions from the fees if an applicant can show hardship.

Water Directors Delay Action On Public Agencies Rate Boost

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District agreed yesterday to postpone adoption of an ordinance which would require school districts and other public agencies using water for recreation and irrigation to pay the same rates as private users.

The board agreed to the delay after representatives of school districts said they needed more time to prepare documentation of the effects the increased rates will have on them.

Currently the school districts pay a special rate of 14.5 cents per 100 cubic feet of water used, less than half the 34 cents per 100 cubic feet levied against regular customers. The same low rate is paid by the City of Mill Valley, which uses district water to irrigate its municipal golf course.

The proposed ordinance calls for a two-step increase for Mill Valley and the school districts, raising their rates to 25 cents per 100 cubic feet by July 1, 1973, and to 34 cents by July of 1974.

Ralph Giovanniello, superintendent of the Reed Union School District, objected to the proposal, saying it would force the schools to pay up to three times as much as they do now.

"It would create serious financial problems for us," said Giovanniello, who said he was speaking for the 14 districts in Marin Municipal District.

Richard V. Godino, assistant county councsel and legal adviser to school districts, said the increased costs might have an adverse effect on educational programs, since the districts have a maximum authorized tax rate and most are already taxing to the limit.

Director John M. MacPhail Jr., a member of the board's rate review committee, which proposed abolition of the special rates, said the 14.5 cents does not even pay the cost of providing water.

He charged that school districts often waste water and let it run "down the street" when irrigating and said the increased charges may encourage the district to conserve water.

MacPhail also said he could see no reason why "our other customers should subsidize school districts."

The board agreed to consider the matter further Dec. 13.

Disc Jockey Is Found Dead

MILWAUKIE, Ore. (UPI) — Listeners wondered why radio station KYXI had gone off the air and no one answered the telephone.

One listener then telephoned police early Wednesday. They found disc jockey Michael D. Roberts, 22, hanging dead from a water pipe with electrical wiring wrapped around his neck in the transmitter room.

There were no indications Roberts made any references on the air about commiting suicide.

Call Off The Fight, Push Redevelopment

We commend the San Rafael City Council for its decision to go ahead with its downtown-East San Rafael redevelopment plan.

To the county officials who hurled threats of lawsuit at the city, we offer a word of caution. Redevelopment under the California law (written into the state constitution by the voters 20 years ago) has already survived court challenges. It has been carried out in quite a few cities, mostly in Southern California — and some of them have lacked the "blight area" criteria that certainly can be found in downtown San Rafael.

A lawsuit by the county against the city would, it seems to us, constitute very questionable use of our county tax dollars — and of our city tax dollars, too, since the city would have to defend it. The county might wind up paying as much as it stands to "lose" by the first year's freeze on assessed valuation in the redevelopment area (if, indeed, it stands to lose anything) — and both county and city would be the losers. So would Marin residents, who would have been forced to pay out taxes for frivolous unnecessary litigation.

THE FACTS SEEM to be so evident they cannot be escaped: without some radical, extreme measure to save it, downtown San Rafael is going to deteriorate very rapidly and very badly. It has started the downhill slide, and the pace is accelerating.

The county assessor's own figures prove this. He would likely wind up being the city's star witness as to the redevelopment area meeting the necessary criteria of blight.

Those county officials who forced the suit would likely wind up with egg on their faces. And their constituents might not look kindly on their use of tax money to fight in court.

The same applies to the San Rafael schools and Marin Community College District. The redevelopment's impact on the latter will be minimal. The council made a generous offer to the city schools when it promised to allow the schools up to 4 per cent of the taxes from increased values in the redevelopment area. It may have been too generous an offer. The schools should expect little from this source next fiscal year, for most appraisals in the area likely will be down.

TO THE CITY, we would recommend putting a much shorter limit on the redevelopment program than the 45 years allowed by law.

If the downtown is to be "turned around" and is to start reviving instead of declining, that must be done within a very few years. And once well started on its way, it should not need further subsidy. Therefore a 20-year limit — giving time enough to amortize bonds — would seem realistic. A 45-year limit invites continued "redevelopment" beyond the point of necessity, to where it can become a bureaucratic boondoggle. That, we don't need.

To city and county officials, we would suggest: Why not quit fighting and work together for a better Marin — including a better downtown San Rafael? And we would remind the county board of supervisors that removal of the courthouse from downtown — a major contributing cause of the area's decline — was an action by the supervisors never put to a vote of the people.

Tax-Hungry Governments Kill Golden Egg Layer

By EARL G. WATERS

In their struggles to maintain themselves in the style to which they have become accustomed, local governments are on a continual search for new ways to impose taxes.

It is unfortunate, but most "tax experts," as well as others with the power to levy taxes, almost never take a philosophic approach to their subject.

What they are looking for is something that isn't taxed which could be taxed without too much screaming from the public. Or where taxes can be increased with the same relative immunity from public reaction.

Most often overlooked is the potential chain effect upon the economy, the social environment and the general welfare of the people.

THIS VOID in the thinking process of the taxers, in their quest to satisfy seemingly insatiable appetities of governmental agencies, leads to the creation of many of the state's problems.

The so-called sin taxes are a good example. Liquor, beer and tobacco have been the chief targets. But experience has shown that even in these things, people will accept only so much. When the taxes exceed that, other things start happening. In the case of liquor, the bootleggers enter the picture. The result is increased costs of enforcement, moral breakdown, costs of incarcerating the offenders, and the inevitable welfare care of the families involved.

So it is with other taxes. If income taxes become too high, people start cheating, with the same after-effects as with bootlegging. Whatever the tax, as the eminent Prof. C. Northcote Parkinson has pointed out, there is a turning point. Avoidance rather than payment becomes the goal of the taxpayer.

SAN FRANCISCO, looking for more revenues, has sighted in on its international airport. The city's budget analyst has recommended that airline rents and landing fees should be increased to provide more revenue for the city treasury.

Seemingly overlooked is the fact that some 30,000 persons, with a gross annual payroll of more than $330 million, are employed at the airport. Another 5,000 or more have jobs directly connected with airport activity which represent an additional $50 million payroll.

But since many of these people do not reside or shop in the city, these payrolls may not be considered important to the taxers. Yet the fact that more than two million visitors come to San Francisco by air and spend an estimated $1.5 million daily can hardly be shrugged off.

The allurement of the airport as a source of direct revenues to local authorities is not limited to San Francisco. It has been spreading, and Sacramento has just voted to increase parking rates despite the fact that this source is already producing more than 50 per cent profit at present fees.

THE QUESTION which should be asked in these moves is whether they may not be killing the goose with the golden eggs.

When taxes, whether they are called fees or some other term, become oppressive, people start looking for other methods. The airlines may find ways to cut down the number of flights into an airport. They may divert travelers. They may move ancillary facilities away from the airport to less costly terminals.

And travelers do not have to park their cars at airport lots. In Los Angeles and San Bruno, private enterprisers have established parking lots with shuttle service to the airport so that motoring air travelers can avoid the confiscatory parking rates at the airport.

Fine-Print Insurance Exclusions Not Allowed

My work also involves providing information to the public. My public is the insurance industry of the thirteen western states. I too indulge myself in writing editorials and I have used that device on numerous occasions to berate the insurance industry.

It appears, however, that I have access to information which you either do not have or choose not to use. Your editorial which appeared in the I-J on Oct. 28 tends to present some misleading information.

First, the "fine print" exclusions just do not (by provision of the Insurance Code) exist. Second, regarding the pair of earrings, policies do make specific provision for the loss of one or more items of a pair or set of items. While an incomplete pair or set certainly does not have the intrinsic or use value of the complete pair or set there is usually some residual value . . .

Flag Disappears From Mt. Carmel Church

It has for a long time been customary for Mt. Carmel Catholic Church of Mill Valley to have an American flag standing somewhere within the church itself. It has now become apparent that there are some members of that parish who find the presence of an American flag to be offensive and have so banned the flag from their church.

Recently I wrote to Mt. Carmel's assistant pastor suggesting that at least during Veterans Day week end an American flag be placed somewhere within the church, reminding of the important role Catholic chaplains had within American servicemen during wars past. The reply was that the Catholic Church is going through a period of changes but if a place could be found for it a flag would be there. There was no flag and hasn't been for some time . . .

Some Warm Memories Of George W. Hall

George W. Hall will be remembered by many people, especially if they recall the fiesta parades when George would dress as Santa Claus. My brother Jim often gave him a hand on the microphone when announcing for the parade. My family appreciates everything he did for Jim (Jim Beach). He saw Jim off on the Greyhound bus, as he tried to do for all the boys leaving for the service. He sent Jim the I-J, wrote letters and sent packages. Jim was killed in Italy in 1944. Mr. Hall died in October, 1972. Marin County has lost two humanitarians.

'Trick Or Treat' Takes Nasty Halloween Turn

I have walked my children and grandchildren on "trick or treat" evenings for many years.

What has happened to today's parents when they allow children out late at night?

This last Halloween we had the usual enjoyable youngsters call, and we looked forward to and were prepared for it. Beautiful!

However, getting late (for us), we turned off all lights and went to bed.

I had barely fallen off to sleep when we heard this incessant pounding on the door. I got out of bed and opened the front door.

I was met by five or six children (I thought) about 12 to 15 years of age.

I told them, "Couldn't you see our lights are all out — we are in bed or not at home? Why do you keep knocking on the door when there is no answer?"

The reply: "XXXX you, old man! This is Halloween."

Roumiguiere Has Real Environmental Record

As a long-time resident of Marin County and a scoutmaster of the Miwok District, Marin Council of Boy Scouts, I am deeply distressed by the recent irresponsible attack made by Mr. Gary Giacomini upon the Marin County supervisor of our district, Bob Roumiguiere.

Bob Roumiguiere has many accomplishments, not just words, in the field of conservation, and Mr. Giacomini's attempts to obscure his record should not go unanswered.

Among Bob's accomplishments in the conservation-environmental field are:

1. He has been and still is the main motivating force in the creation of the Nicasio Conservation Project.

2. He pushed with the County Park and Recreation Department and with the board of supervisors for the acquisition of the McNear's Beach Park.

3. As a vice president of the Marin Council of Boy Scouts, Bob is directly involved in youth programs with an emphasis in outdoor involvement.

4. As the president of the Louise Boyd Museum, Bob has been involved in promoting youth programs in public and private schools.

These programs teach children to love, enjoy and protect the environment.

I wish that other elected officials would use Bob Roumiguiere as an example and get more involved in conservation at the people level instead of just paying lip service to it.

Immigrant Ashamed Of Election Result

I am ashamed of being a citizen of this country which I enthusiastically became three presidents ago. As ashamed am I today as I was 30 years ago when the German government systematically destroyed the German Jewry and those who opposed that government. Now I am fortunately a citizen of a country where the people elect their leaders. But the majority of these people don't seem to have a conscience even though they are directly or indirectly participating in the extermination of a small Asian country. A million people, including many of our own, does not bear heavy enough on their conscience to let them make the choice to end the senseless killing. There may not be any place in this world where those who are tolerant, cooperative, peace-loving and constructive are in the majority. It does not seem to be the form of government, it is the people who are not behaving as people should. There is no place for us disappointed ones to go, the fight for decency has to go on; once we must win or many will not survive.

This election result was a victory for the communistic world! Instead to try to compete with them and prove that our system of personal freedom works better we continue to drain a large percentage of our potential into destruction: saturation bombing on election day, one-day bombing record of the war on Nov. 5, South Vietnam's airforce is made third largest in the world. This is the start of a peacemaking decade as approved by the voters.

Vietnam Last Ideological War —A Throwback To The Crusades

Anyone inclined to nostalgia about the Vietnam War (there probably are some as there are with all wars) had best take a last lingering look at it in these closing days. It's the last war of its particular kind which the world is likely to experience for quite awhile.

It is an ideological war deriving from a period of history in which ideology influenced the thinking of statesmen and the attitudes of peoples. It has its historical parallels in the wars between Christians and Moslems at the end of the first millennium and between Protestants and Catholics in the 16th and 17th centuries. It was a war which began on the assumption that the issue was Communists against anti-Communists. It is ending in a world in which Communists and non-Communists are groping towards ways and means of doing business with each other. Germany and Korea are the most prominent examples.

There are likely to be plenty of political differences reaching the level of frontier wars in the less ideological world which lies ahead of us. The frontiers of the various tribes and nations and political combinations are not settled for all time. They probably never will be until the millennium. But the Vietnam War concludes the last major frontier question raised during the "cold war," in so far as the major powers are concerned.

Everywhere else around the world the question of whether a particular territory is to be Communist or non-Communist is settled for the visible future. The great powers themsleves have gone out of the business of trying to advance their ideological frontiers. The Nixon Doctrine canceled out the Truman Doctrine and takes the United States out of the business of attempting to advance the frontiers of non-Communism. The quarrel between Russia and China has taken the momentum out of the march of Communism and effectively ends any serious prospect of further ideological conquests. Ideologically the world is at or on the brink of stability. We know right now what countries will have Communist or non-Communist governments as far ahead as anyone can foresee.

But the defusing of the ideological issue exposes or allows to re-appear older or more native issues. Nothing in the end of the Vietnam War will help to resolve the vicious issue between Jews and Arabs in Palestine, or the equally intractable and ingrained suspicion of Catholics and Protestants toward each other in Ulster.

Perhaps the most dangerous new situation already beginning to emerge is over the future alignment of Bangladesh. It is presently under the "protection" of India. But economic recovery is so slow and the prospects of something better are so poor that a native nationalism with an anti-Indian tilt is already beginning to appear. If it seeks foreign help, to whom will it look?

India itself is presently under Russian "protection" and is likely to so remain for a long time to come. The United States is only marginally interested in that part of the world. Western Europe is even less so. Which means that if the new nationalists of Bangladesh start looking for a foreign "big brother," the only one in sight is China. And that would, if it happens, sharpen the sense of rivalry between China and India.

As for Southeast Asia, the departure of the United States will not mean an end to frontier uncertainties. And one of the biggest of these hangs over the nominally independent states of Cambodia and Laos.

The biggest question of all for Asia is over the shape and nature of Japan's future industrial and commercial sphere of influence. There is in fact a Japanese economic empire. ("Trading area" is a more accurate, also more polite, label.) Will it someday become political as well as economic?

There will be plenty of work for the statesmen in the days ahead. Their task will be to prevent or at least limit possible war arising out of these and other less visible conflicts of interests and aspirations.

But in all these issues the ideological factor is nearly gone. As in the treaty of Westphalia (1648), the religion of the various states has been settled. The issues of the future will be political, territorial, commercial or tribal — not religious.

Heath's Wage-Price Freeze Challenges British Unions

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In clamping a freeze on wages and prices, British Prime Minister Edward Heath has accepted what he regards as a challenge to determine whether Britain is to be run by the government or the labor unions.

Pessimists fear that no matter what the outcome the chief victim will be the British economy.

Heath's action came after marathon sessions with the Trades Union Congress (TUC) and the Confederation of British Industry (CBI) failed to win from labor a promise of voluntary restraint in wage demands.

JUST AS PRESIDENT Nixon reversed himself in declaring a freeze in August, 1971, Heath also reversed a 1970 election pledge to reduce government interference in the economy.

Heath had sought voluntary agreement to limit wage increases over the next year to about $5 a week and retail prices to an average of 5 per cent.

British inflation is now running at about 10 per cent per year and is considered the worst in Europe. The problem goes beyond Britain because as British inflation has increased, so has pressure on the British pound, which last week hit a low of about $2.33.

Britain is to enter the European Common Market on Jan. 1 and until the value of the pound can be fixed in relation to other countries the market will be unable to put into operation its own program for monetary cooperation among members.

IN THE LAST four years, British retail prices have gone up 30 per cent, a condition which British businessmen blame on excessive wage increases, a charge labor denies.

At any rate, the complaining British housewife is paying 20 per cent more for rump steak than she did a year ago. In the last 10 years the price of a three-bedroom house has quadrupled.

Government figures show that wages have been going up by about 17 per cent a year, as compared to retail price boosts of about 8 per cent.

As this has occurred unemployment has stayed close to the one million mark.

The outward appearance however, is one of prosperity, with demand for luxuries exceeding the supply and prices continuing subsequently to climb.

AMONG THE FACTORS leading to fears the Heath government has not yet found the answer to its problems are these:

—The belief wage and price freeze will not work because British labor will not let it work. The British Trade Unions Congress declared last Septmeber its implacable opposition to a wage freeze, and the result could be industrial chaos.

—Wages and prices are not the only causes of inflation. Another is the printing press money with which the government has been attempting to expand the economy. The money supply has been increasing even faster than inflation with no indication of any change in government policy.

Nov. 9, 1962

The Novato City Council by 4-to-1 vote endorsed a depressed freeway through the middle of Novato on the existing route of Highway 101.

U.S. Navy warships intercepted five Russian vessels outbound from Cuba and reported missiles and missile parts were found on three of them.

20 YEARS AGO

Nov. 9, 1952

Final tabulations of election results showed that State Proposition 18 passed narrowly. This proposition authorized creation of community redevelopment projects to which taxes from valuation increase could be diverted.

GOP Needs All That Money To Defend Dirty Tricksters

WASHINGTON — Although the Republicans collected more than $40 million for the presidential campaign, they spent only $49.50, mostly for radio broadcasts by President Nixon. I had assumed that the unspent money would be returned to the contributors, but I was wrong. Zachary Evans III told me the Republicans needed every dime they could get.

"What for?" I asked. "The election is over."

"We need it for a defense fund for all the people being accused of wrongdoing during the campaign."

"BUT I THOUGHT the Justice Department was going to defend anyone in the Republican Party indicted for a crime."

"That's where you're wrong," Evans said. "The Justice Department can defend only those people who are in the administration. The rest of the Republican employees will have to hire their own lawyers."

"But that's unfair," I protested. "The Justice Department should defend anyone who helped the President get re-elected."

"Unfortunately, the law says otherwise. In some cases the Justice Department might even have to prosecute Republicans for wrongdoing."

"THAT'S IMPOSSIBLE. How can Attorney General Kleindienst prosecute the people responsible for his holding his job?"

"It won't be easy," Evans admitted, "but sometimes even an attorney general has to rise above politics."

"Surely you're not going to need $40 million to defend the Republican Party employees?"

"We're not certain of that. For one thing, we're not sure how much the other side is going to dig up. We want our people to have the best counsel that money can buy. The people who were involved in those activities were doing it for the good of the party, and they deserve our gratitude and our support."

"I would think you would write them off for being so stupid and inept."

"We thought about that," Evans admitted, "but if we don't defend them, they could become embittered and implicate other people who have not been mentioned so far. The purpose of the defense fund is to keep this thing from snowballing into the White House."

"I CAN SEE THAT," I said. "Yet I can't believe the people who contributed all that money for the President's campaign thought they were giving it to a defense fund for Republican workers who got into trouble."

"Our contributors do not ask how we spend their money. They know that whether we spend it on bugging or bumper stickers, we have their best interests at heart."

"Did you know when you first started the campaign that you would need such a large defense fund for your workers?"

"It was in the budget from the beginning. We had the choice of running a dull, uninspired campaign or a hard-hitting, devil-take-all race. We told our sabotage people at the time that no matter what they did, we'd have a lawyer standing behind each one of them. That's the difference between the Republicans and the Democrats: When our people get caught we don't disown them. Besides, if we didn't back them this time, we wouldn't be able to get anyone to volunteer for our Secret Fund operations in 1976."

No Complaint Filed As Yet

No complaint was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against a 23-year-old man arrested Saturday on suspicion of drunken driving and possession of dangerous drugs.

They said the first votes in the new Congress, which convenes Jan. 3 to spend its first month organizing, likely will come on efforts to pass again—over a presidential veto if necessary—some of the bills Nixon killed by pocket veto after the 92nd Congress adjourned.

With the election behind them, the Democrats also kicked off a contest for House majority leader, in the probable event that the current leader, Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La. is dead. Boggs and Rep. Nick Begich, D-Alaska, have been missing since their plane disappeared over Alaska on Oct. 16.

Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., now the party whip in the House, and Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., a five-term southern liberal, were reported sounding out fellow members, seeking support for the post.

A rumored challenge to Speaker Carl Albert had not materialized. Most members now believed Albert, after one term in the highest elective office held by a Democrat, would be picked without opposition at a pre-session caucus for another two years as speaker.

Near-final returns from Tuesday's balloting showed the Democrats had staved off the Nixon avalanche to pick up two seats in the Senate and to lose no more than 12 or 13 in the House. Thus they maintained Democratic congressional control unbroken since 1954.

Republican strategists had hoped the Nixon sweep would carry in enough Republican challengers to switch control of the Senate, where they needed a net gain of five seats. They even had said it was possible they could take over the House, where a net gain of 39 GOP seats was required.

In retrospect, Republicans said Nixon already could claim a pretty fair "philosophical majority" in the House, where a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats traditionally have been able to win.

As for the Senate, they conceded that it now takes on a somewhat more liberal hue. But they said Nixon's historic win over George S. McGovern must have carried shock waves to Capitol Hill—and that Nixon now should get better support.

But O'Neill dismissed any suggestion that the Nixon victory had "carried a message" to Congress.

"There was no message there," O'Neill told a reporter. "In fact, the new Congress probably will be more independent of the President than the old one. As far as Congress is concerned, the electioc mandate appears to have been for more independence in Congress."

O'Neill also listed for major attention of the new Congress some form of national health insurance; additional consumer protection; more aid for mass transit; a new money bill for health, education and welfare, to replace one vetoed by Nixon as the old Congress died; and re-passage of another vetoed bill to improve veterans' medical care.

Reagan Challenges The Film Industry

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan, reacting to the defeat of an anti-obscenity initiative in Tuesday's election, said Wednesday the movie industry should impose its own censorship code.

The initiative, which was fought by film makers, lost by a margin of 5.2 million votes to 2.5 million. Reagan told a news conference that people are "sick and tired of film pornography" and the movie business, after defeating outside controls, "has a responsibility now to impose their own self censorship."

Governor Explains GOP Loss

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan blames heavy Republican election casualties in the Assembly on Democratic "gerrymandering" and suggests a new reapportionment system that would ignore voter registration figures.

At a post election news conference Wednesday, Reagan also ruled himself out as a possibility for appointment to President Nixon's second term cabinet and said guidelines must be adopted "in a hurry" for preservation of private property rights along the California coast as a consequence of the coastal initiative being approved by the voters.

Democrats ousted three incumbent Republican assemblymen in Tuesday's election and captured five seats from GOP members who didn't seek reelection. Democratic control of the lower house was expanded from the current 43-35 lineup, with two vacancies, to a commanding 51-29 margin.

Senate Democrats, however, suffered a reversal. They now hold a razor-thin 20-19 margin. Republicans gained one seat in the election but will lose one when Sen. Clare Burgener resigns to take his seat in Congress, creating a 19-19 standoff. There will be two vacancies.

Reagan attributed Assembly GOP losses to what he called a state "gerrymandered" by Democrats 10 years ago and suggested his own proposal to overhaul the way congressional and legislative districts are drawn.

He said voter registration figures, the crucial stuff on which redistricting is based, should be prohibited and the lines drawn solely on "community of interest" and "contiguity of an area."

Reagan suggested that the 40-seat Senate be expanded to 43 seats, the same total as Congressional seats. Those districts in turn could be split into 86 instead of the current 80 for the Assembly.

In this way, Reagan said, a voter would be less confused because the numbers of the Assembly, Senate and congressional districts would be the same. Asked whether he foresaw himself accepting a position in Nixon's administration now, Reagan replied, "I've got two years to go as governor and that, the Lord willing, I intend to fill out."

Reagan also said that he would appoint "common sense" people to a statewide and six regional commissions established by Prop. 20 to protect the coast from over-development. He opposed the measure.

Reagan said he probably would send his latest $1.1 billion income tax cut, school finance, property tax relief proposal to the legislature this week and said he hopes it will receive bipartisan support.

No Decision Reached On Smog Device Plan

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The state Air Resources board has delayed a decision on a starting date for a statewide plan requiring smog control devices in all 1966-70 model cars.

The program, required by the legislature, is scheduled to start in the South Coast Air Basin, which stretches from Santa Barbara to San Clemente and inland to Riverside.

At a meeting to iron out details for a timetable for the plan, the board discussed delaying until June 1, 1973 a mandatory requirement for the antipollution devices in 1966-70 cars in the South Coast region.

Last August, the board had set April 1 of next year as the date to begin the program. However, the board said a decision would be made on a starting time at its Nov. 21 meeting in San Francisco.

The board did decide to begin a pilot program Feb. 1, 1973 in Riverside or Ventura counties to require the smog devices on 1966-70 cars sold in Riverside or Ventura counties.

It also established a program to require the devices in 1955-65 model vehicles sold in the San Francisco Bay area beginning March 1, 1973.

Under the program's present timetable, all 1966-70 vehicles in California would be required to have the smog control devices by Feb. 1, 1975 —two years behind the target date originally set by the legislature.

Two smog control devices have been approved by the board. The equipment, which cost $35 for 1966-70 cars and $85 for 1955-65 models, is expected to reduced nitrogen oxides emitted from cars by about 50 per cent.

About two million motorists driving 1966-70 cars in the South Coast air basin will be the first to face the mandatory requirement. The program then will be expanded into the state's 10 other air basins.

The program for the devices in the 1955-65 cars involved in a change of ownership in the San Francisco bay area will include Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, San Mateo, Santa Clara, San Francisco, Solano and Sonoma counties.

Call Made For Watchdog Roles

By KAREN PETERSON

Outspoken consumer activist Sylvia Siegel warned members of the Petaluma Chapter of the American Association of University Women last night to keep a close eye on consumer legislation and urged them to become active participants in the consumer movement.

Speaking before about 50 women at the United Church of Christ in Petaluma, Mrs. Siegel cited federal and state consumer legislation as well as the prospects — and problems — awaiting the consumer in the future.

Mrs. Siegel, who is currently representing the consumer before the California Public Utilities Commission, is at work organizing TURN, (Toward Utility Rate Normality), a nonprofit organization that will fight to keep utility prices in line.

THE INCREASE in utility prices has gone up 30 per cent in Northern California in the last two years, said Mrs. Siegel. "It'll go up more unless we do something. We have to get together and let them know we don't like it."

"The $44 million utility rate increase is the largest amount ever. It's absolutely scandalous. They received over 81 per cent of their request. In the past, they never received more than 77 per cent."

"It costs money to fight them. We don't have anything like equality when it comes to facing these large utility companies. Right now we're asking foundations for support in representing the citizens before the utilities corporations," said Mrs. Siegel, former member of the Association of California Consumers.

Two actions involving this inequality of representation are heartening, said Mrs. Siegel. The General Accounting Office in Washington, commenting in response to a Federal Trade Commission case, said respondents should be allowed an equal chance when confronting a large corporation.

THIS SAME opinion, recently upheld by a San Francisco District court judge, may result in an established case law, said Mrs. Siegel.

Mrs. Siegel, who pointed out a $320 million Pacific Telephone and Telegraph increase plea to be brought before the PUC in January and the three increases asked by Pacific Gas and Electric Co., urged consumers to start asking the companies about the reasons behind the increases.

"We've been told there is a gas shortage in California but we don't know that for a fact. Let them tell us the alternatives and the least costly ways of combating the shortage."

"There's an awful lot involved but if I can learn all about it you can too."

Mrs. Siegel also urged the members of the AAUW to tune into the PUC and help restore what was once the best commission in the country.

CURRENT CONSUMER legislation, both federal and state, is subject to close observation too, stressed Mrs. Siegel.

"You get ripped off here (Sonoma County), too. You don't have a prayer; there is nothing in Sonoma County. You need an independent consumer department to back you. What can you do about it? Set up your own. Take care of the consumer."

If you're into consumer protection, do more than study about it, she said to the members of AAUW who are currently working on "A Dollars Worth" study. "The consumer," she emphasized, "has a bill of rights too. They're entitled to information, safety and the assurance that the product will provide the services it was intended for."

Mrs. Siegel is cynical of the current administration's policies on consumer affairs. "It's not a whole program. There's a bloody battle getting consumer agencies through in federal government. In order to get a program, we have to exert pressure."

"FEDERAL LEGISLATION leaves a lot to be desired," she said. "There are many new people in Washington now and it's up to us to make sure they work for the consumer."

Mrs. Siegel believes the business lobby controls consumer policies in Washington. "They're afraid the consumer is anti-business. That's not so at all. They're pursuing an interest of higher ethical practice in business. Five per cent of business can give the rest a black eye. There are many businesses supportive of consumer demands."

Mrs. Siegel also cited the recently passed Product Safety Act which she warns may fall into a pattern set by hazardous toys legislation. This legislation was not acted upon until three days before Christmas. Then an attempt was made to clear the shelves of all hazardous toys.

State legislation, such as the auto repair bill, is a big step for the consumer, said Mrs. Siegel.

All auto repair companies have to register with the state consumer board. Once a complaint has been made, they are investigated and if necessary, dummied cars are sent out for repairs. If the proper work isn't done they can get the book thrown at them, said Mrs. Siegel.

THIS BILL, she said, is similar to the 1963 bill which covered electronic repair companies. "This bill rid the field of crooked TV repair dealers."

"There's a long way to go on automobile legislation," she said. "We need a safe, clean, inexpensive car."

Mrs. Siegel also pointed out the discrepancies with "deficiency judgment" for automobiles. Deficiency judgment is a legal device. A creditor can repossess and sell a car at a lower than blue book price and still dun the owner for the original price. He is thus collecting twice." The bill is currently awaiting review by the Senate Judiciary Commission.

Six no-fault bills have been introduced and none have been acceptable, said Mrs. Siegel. Consumers must push hard and put the pressure on. They have to be assured that any modification of the no-fault bill would still provide a section on the reduction of premiums. We're still waiting for a satisfactory bill."

Mrs. Siegel also urged consumers to support ingredient labeling. "Many ingredients we may be allergic to are not currently labeled," she said. She is also urging the acceptance of open dating." Many chain stores have already been converted either by court action or consumer pressure," she added.

FOR THE individual consumer, Mrs. Siegel priased the efforts of the San Francisco Consumer Action group staffed entirely by volunteers.

The SFCA helps the consumer resolve complaints about various products and services. "There's no one to help the little guy with shoddy products, over-pricing and deceptive advertising."

Acting as an ombundsman, the SFCA has been involved in many situations where persistence and involvement have helped the consumer face the manufacturers and representatives with their grievances.

"They get both sides of the story. They check out all the facts first and then they go to the company and attempt to resolve the grievance. Nine out of 10 times they succeed without further action," she said.

In both the examples described by Mrs. Siegel, the SFCA was able to provide their "client" with either a full refund or repairs. One situation had to do with repairs on a recently purchased used car. The attorney for the dealer filed a $6 million lawsuit against the SFCA and obtained an injunction against the informational picket by members of the group.

"IN THE first place, the judge who issued that injunction didn't know what he was doing. There is no law restraining a group from holding an informational picket as long as they obey the rules," she said.

The hearing for the final injunction was dismissed and the dealer repaired the woman's car.

"It only takes 25 people to sign a petition and initiate a complaint," she said. The only way to obtain the goals of the consumer is to get involved, write letters and let legislators know that you are watching them, Mrs. Siegel said.

Male Foot Styles Set By Blacks

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) —Steve Daniels says the current rage for bright-colored, high heeled shoes for young men was started by blacks and they did so because they are more adventurous when it comes to fashion, and because such shoes give a man a means of identity and a means of expression.

Daniels, 32, possibly the most successful black in the men's shoe industry, is national sales manager of Verde, one of the largest importers of men's high fashion shoes, and a member of their style committee. Before that he was Verde's fashion director.

"If you saw any of the photographs taken at the Joe Frazier-Muhammed Ali fight some years back you know what I mean," he said. He also cited a photograph of world heavyweight champion Frazier in two-inch high heels at the more recent Ali-Floyd Patterson fight.

"A man decides on a style he wants and he follows it," he said. "The hippier stores, shoes and all, are heavily frequented by black customers.

"No doubt the blacks started this high heel business. They saw it in Europe when designers showed a touch of heel—the designers wanted something new and fresh so they turned to the 18th Century when all men wore high heels."

WE LOOKED in on one of the stores on Greenwich Village's MacDougall Street — "Soulis Vogue" owned by Soulis Mathios, a Greek who has stocked it not only with high heels but with big platform soles and the brightest colors this side of the Aurora Borealis. Many shoes had bulbous toes.

The purpose of the platform sole, Daniels explained, is that high heels by themselves hurt men's toes—they aren't used to them. With big thick platforms you can have heels which are high but don't lift the heel much more than ordinary shoes do.

"With such widespread acceptance of the high heels and the platform sole the more sophisticated men—the younger ones up to 32—will go somewhere else, perhaps to a different toe line." He suggests that might be a tapered toe—not pointed but slightly rounded. The ones now are fairly squared off.

BLACKS STARTED the current rage for brightly colored high heeled shoes for men, according to Steve Daniels, the national sales manager of Verde, one of the largest importers of men's high fashion shoes, and a member of their style committee. Blacks are more adventurous when it comes to fashion, according to Daniels.

(UPI Telephoto)

Daniels opened a sample kit and showed some of the more dazzling varieties on sale now. One was an olive colored shoe trimmed with white with an offwhite heel and platform and white laces. It also had a big bulbous toe for wear with big flares or baggy pants.

A more sophisticated shoe was a plain moccasin toe with a high heel and no platform. shown in a dark green with buckle and strap with black leather heels. A pair of gray shoes were trimmed with wide pink laces and a pink sole. A combination of brown patent leather and kid had a thick platform sole and a four-inch heel-the platform itself was about two inches thick.

ON ACTUAL designs, Daniels said, Verde has six people traveling constantly in Europe and the United States and all keep their eyes peeled for a new trend.

And how did Daniels get into the shoe business? When he finished school he sent a resume off to an industrial psychologist to see what he was best fitted for. There were six hours of written tests and three hours of oral examinations.

GENERATION RAP

Unfaithful Fiance Overseas Demands 'Truth' From Girl

RAP:

My fiance is in the Army overseas. I got a strange letter from him. He said he'd had reports from "an informed friend" that I'd been going out on him. I haven't ever!

Then he wrote that he's been shacking up and will I please forgive him? Said he is breaking off with this girl and begged me to understand.

The last paragraph said, "Now that I've leveled with you, I expect you to be as truthful with me."

I don't know what to believe. Is he trying to trap me into a confession? Should I track down this "friend" and make him or her tell the truth? Should I give my boyfriend permission to mess around as long as he doesn't get serious? Or should I get mad and threaten to break our engagement because 1. He doesn't trust me, and 2. He isn't true? — OR WHAT?

OR WHAT:

A guilty conscience can force a person into making up excuses to excuse himself. So that he'll look "not so bad," he makes you look "not so good." See?

So now he hopes everything is even and all is well. Stick with the truth and forgiveness bit. He'll probably feel rotten that you haven't gone out on him (but also relieved), and good that you'd forgive his game. — SUE

DEAR O.W.:

You asked, "Is he trying to trap me into a confession?" Is he perhaps the sneaky type who might bring up the girlfriend story so that you'd tell all —and his jealousies would be confirmed? Maybe there is no "informed friend," but only his basic distrust.

You evidently suspect this. Be sure you're wrong before you go ahead with marriage plans. — HELEN

DEAR RAP:

Could you publish my letter for "Lonely" who described her high school years so poignantly?

Dear Lonely: May I add some words from my own experience to Helen's and Sue's very good advice? I could have been you several years ago. Believe me, with a little work, your situation can and probably will change.

High schools are very cruel to someone who doesn't enter the freshman year with self-confidence. If you are pegged as shy or "not with it" it's difficult to change the label. But school isn't your entire world. Join an outside group. Get involved in a project, a job, or a cause.

I didn't learn this until I reached college (with a dateless, boyless, almost friendless history and rock-bottom self-confidence). Two things finally broke the cycle. I decided that if I was going to be manless, I might as well have a great career, so I joined an outside theater group to fill my nights and weekends. Soon I learned my career aspirations interested the men I met in the actors' workshop. I also learned I had better success with older, more mature fellows — men who didn't need a "popular" girl as a status symbol.

When I graduated, it was with the knowledge I could get almost any man I wanted, as well as the job I had studied for. I was right! Two years later I have my fascinating career and the husband of my dreams.

Occasionally I run into some of the "big names" from high school days. So far, none of them seems half as happy and successful as — truly yours, FORMERLY LONELY

DEAR FORMERLY LONELY:

Your good letter (and others like it) points up a lovely truth we failed to mention: He enjoys best who can compare present success against past failures. It isn't happenstance that so many prominent — and now happily self-confident — achievers describe themselves as "late-blooming shy ones." — HELEN AND SUE

(Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen —or both, in care of the Independent Journal, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

Volunteer Visitors' Seminar Set

Marin County Department of Public Social Services is having an orientation for volunteer visitors Nov. 14 from 12:45 to 2:30 p.m. at the Marin County Civic Center.

Volunteers are needed to drive a blind woman to San Rafael to shop, to take men and women in Mill Valley and Fairfax shopping and on occasional outings. Some very elderly persons in San Rafael and Kentfield just need visiting, and others need visitors who can speak foreign languages, according to Elizabeth Moody, coordinator of volunteer services for the department.

"Most people need contacts. Older people, as loved ones die, find it difficult to make new contacts. Physical limitations and reduced income add to the isolation of many older people," Miss Moody said.

"Volunteers are needed to provide transportation for shopping and just to help some of these people get out once in a while."

Volunteers are also needed to encourage shut-in, lonely persons, and drivers are needed for medical appointments, she explained.

Speakers during the orientation will be Peter Breen, assistant director of DPSS; Helen Callbeck and Mary Cutler, social workers; Marge Detsch, director of community programs for the Marin County Chapter, American Red Cross; Mickey Pedersen, DPSS volunteer, and Miss Moody.

PARENT AND CHILD

Youngsters Should Seek Home Chores

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

How often do you help around the house? It doesn't make any difference whether you're a boy or a girl. Do you really go out of your way to do some of the many daily chores necessary for running a happy home?

If you do, you are to be commended. Then maybe you would like to think out ways to get your friends to do a better job of helping around their homes, too. Parents who pay children for emptying wastebaskets, shoveling snow, folding clothes, washing windows and scrubbing floors aren't really doing their children a favor. You should be helping with the household chores without payment or special bribes. You should be helping just as a matter of course.

The mother who herself makes all the beds in the morning, who gathers up all the soiled clothes and washes them, who clears the table and washes the dishes isn't teaching you some of the things you need to learn.

YOU SHOULDN'T let your mother do all the chores. You should be working out your own daily schedule so that you can take on many of the household chores now done by your parents.

In the first place, you will learn some valuable skills. In the second place, you will feel much more a part of a family if you all work together to make your house or farm or apartment into a home. In the third place — and perhaps most important — you need to be making a significant contribution as a member of a society.

Until you're 18 (a year or so older in some areas), your social group is your family. You don't pay taxes; you don't vote' you don't hold public office; you aren't part of the working force. But you are part of a family and that family is paying taxes, voting, holding office and participating in the economy.

If you live on a farm, then you already know what I'm talking about. Farm children generally help with the running of the farm as a natural part of every day. They don't need to be told to feed the chickens or water the heifers or move sheep from one field to another.

In order to start being helpful, you need to change your present routine. Your mom and dad may not have provided enough time during the day for you to help with household chores.

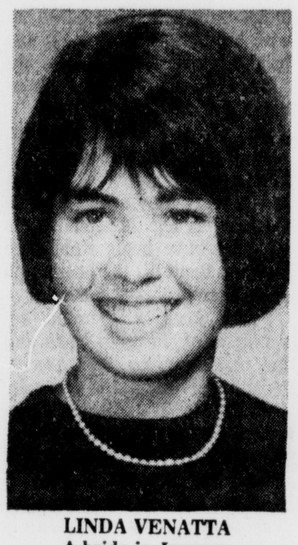

FOR EXAMPLE, you might put the alarm clock in your room and wake up first. Let's say that what you do is collect all the soiled clothes (if yours is a large family) and while you're preparing a Sunday School or regular school lesson you could do a load of wash. Maybe your sister will help you with folding the clothes, and you can help her prepare breakfast.

Home from school in the afternoon you can alternate homework with housework. And Saturday morning, first thing, you could scrub the kitchen and bathroom floors.

If you're part of a large family, you want to be sure that your brothers and sisters get a chance to help around the house, too. Even the littlest children can help. One little chap, not quite 3 years old, helps out by sitting on the polishing cloth after the kitchen floor is waxed.

If your family is small, if you are an only child, then you will want to be sure that your parents understand your interest in wanting to help keep the home working.

Better Priced Fake Fur Coats Selling

Better priced "fake fur" coats are selling well in the early season, but moderate and volume priced competitors found the fall sales slow, according to Women's Wear Daily.

The knee length hooded and trimmed coats in the "Zhivago" style are in demand in the East.

Eat Chinese Foods To Cut Weight

By sticking to a Chinese menu, dieters can eat 34 meals in seven days and lose weight, according to Baron Roy Andries de Groot, who published "The Incredible Gourmet Diet" in Esquire magazine.

During all of China's 4,000-year history, there has been a shortage of meats, animal cooking fats and sugar. This eliminates the most fattening elements.

With the wok, the Chinese metal steamer, food can be "dry fried" to the degree of browness and crispness desired, with almost no oil.

Keeping the dieter so satisfied he never cheats is the key to the reducing program.

More Guests Expected; Try Out Some New Decor

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

NEW YORK — Autumn is homing time. The long summer and its outdoor fun recedes. Thoughts turn, instead, to hearthside chats, congenial friends, good food — in short, to entertaining at home.

That means viewing our possessions and how they are arranged with a fresh eye. If "the house is a machine for living," as Le Corbusier once said, is it really all that efficient? And attractive? Does it work like we'd like it to work?

Most of us would have to answer — no, not quite. Or, no, not by a long shot. We think of the great serving carts that roll around and make it all look so simple. We remember those wonderfully fitted buffets we have seen with a slot or a drawer for everything. We think of the new chairs we need for the living room, to accommodate more guests. And then maybe decide instead, to order big, fat floor pillows or maybe a flexible, push-around hassock or two.

FEW OF US can afford a clean sweep or redecoration. So we perk up what we have. Like buying a new long skirt for our at-home wardrobe, we introduce new "home fashions" in similar ways. Maybe we splash a new supergraphic wallpaper over a single wall. Or invest in new gourmet cookware to make formal little dinner parties and impromptu gatherings easier, more colorful.

Perhaps your own autumn splurge will simply be fresh new toss pillows for the sofa, a few extra fold-away tray tables, a new lamp or two or a new parson's table made in a bright yellow, green, or red plastic.

In my own case, I'm getting a new butcherblock counter top and scattering giant anemones over the kitchen floor via Congoleum's new "shinyl vinyl." I like its glossy finish that never has to be waxed and cleans with a damp mop.

With department stores now big in the plant business, new lush greenery is a great way to up the image of home. B. Altman's new Plant and Pot Shop is a good example. This store thinks foliage looks best in Chinese baskets with paper lanterns and against Oriental rugs, as befitting its "flowering of the East" promotion that has brought centuries of Eastern tradition and craftsmanship to Fifth Avenue in New York.

Lord and Taylor continues its own longtime love affair with the Orient, featuring as well a bow to "American designers, present and future."

Hundreds of stores across the country are likewise spreading out new enticements in home furnishings. Cannell and Chaffin in Los Angeles is showing the delights of game corners to encourage games or reading, study or conversation or just snacks with a few friends.

AT HIGBEE Co. in Cleveland the fall scene emphasizes Italian imports, lots of seashells and seashell themes, rattan and bentwood, and of course Italian baskets, ceramics and ironwork.

Whether you are shopping at Jordan Marsh in Boston, at Marshall Fields in Chicago, Bullicks in Los Angeles, or Woodward and Lothrop in Washington, D.C., you'll see a lot of the new Orientalism, worlds of "natural" finishes on both light and darkwoods. You'll be able to choose the best of handicrafts from all over the world, a new flair for the use of baskets and growing plants, a lively interest in Oriental rugs and model rooms that spell "individualism" — a most important decorating ingredient this fall.

THE MOBILE SERVER is an invaluable helper in home entertaining because it can be wheeled about easily. The Shaker-inspired cart is finished in a light wood tone (Christian Science Monitar photos)

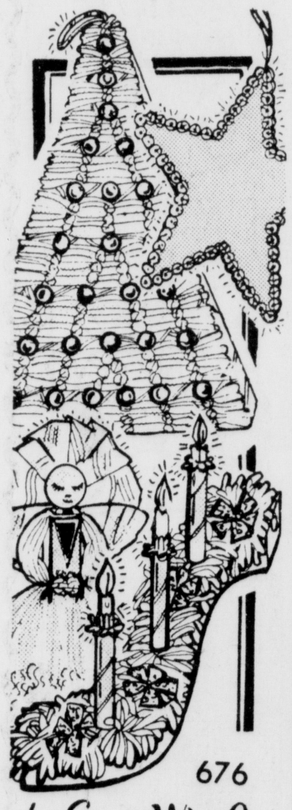

THE WARM and friendly country look of this game corner is made for autumn entertaining, reading, studying, conversation or snacking. The bold, black and white cushioned captains' chairs gather around a 44-inch Feudal finish table.

The Function Of The Blood Count

A blood count is a test that shows whether the patient has anemia or whether the body is suffering from any generalized infection. It is performed by pricking the finger or the ear lobe to draw a small amount of blood.

A blood count shows anemia by counting the number of red blood cells, noting the amount of hemoglobin in the cells and noting the characteristic appearance of the blood under the microscope.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

QUESTION: How long have we had the legal requirement that everyone's birth be registered?

ANSWER: Only since modern times. The idea of keeping accurate birth records first originated with the clergy of England to prevent disputes over rights of inheritance. It did not become a general practice until 1837 and was made compulsory in 1874. Laws requiring it also were enacted in Europe and the United States in the 19th century. Now the responsibility is left to the individual states, which have delegated their authority to local city and county offices. These records provide legal evidence of a person's age and place of birth, which is important now in establishing renewal dates for driver's licenses in many states, the probability of being drafted, a means of identifying bank accounts, and many other purposes, including proof of citizenship.

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS TODAY

1. SPIRO AGNEW, 54 today, is the man President Nixon chose a second time to be his running mate on the Republican party ticket. This World War II combat infantryman studied law and became governor of Maryland before rising to the U.S. Vice Presidency. His middle name is Theodore. Right?

2. SARGENT SHRIVER, choice for Vice President on the Democratic slate this year, celebrates his 56th birthday today. Born in Westminster, Maryland, he studied law at Yale and was wounded in action in World War II, serving as a U.S. naval officer. He is a former head of the Peace Corps and anti-poverty program. His last job was that of Ambassador to France. Yes? No?

3. BENJAMIN BANNEKER (1731-1806), a self-taught mathematical genius, grew up on his father's farm near Baltimore. President Jefferson was so impressed by "Banneker's Almanac" that he recommended him to the scientific world and was deeply impressed by his plan for universal peace and abolishment of capital punishment. Is it true he was a black?

ANSWERS

1. Right; 2. Yes; 3. True.

An Anemic Club Bid Leaves North As Dummy Not The Declarer

North should have bid two notrump at his first turn instead of bothering to show the anemic club suit. He would have become declarer instead of South, and would have had a far easier time.

SOUTH GETS BID

As matters actually turned out, South became the declarer, and West opened the three of spades through dummy's ace-queen. If North had been declarer, an opening spade lead would have been a help rather than a handicap.

South had to try the spade finesse, and East won with the king. East returned the jack of spades to dummy's ace, and now South had his work cut out for him.

NEEDS FINESSE

South needed a successful diamond finesse to make his contract. If he lost a dimaond trick, West would defeat the contract with the rest of the spades.

At the third trick, therefore, declarer led a diamond from the dummy and finessed with the queen from his hand. This worked, but South was not yet out of the woods.

South could make sure of his contract only by bringing in the entire diamond suit. He might need two additional finesses for this purpose. South therefore had to overtake his jack of hearts with dummy's queen. This allowed him to lead a second diamond from the dummy and to finesse with the jack.

WINS CONTRACT

West discarded a heart, and South next had to overtake his king of hearts with dummy's ace in order to lead a third diamond through East. This series of plays cost declarer a heart trick, but the sacrifice of one trick gave him his contract.

Nursery School Has Opening

The Beginning School of Marin City, a racially balanced, inter-community nursery school, still has openings for children 20 months to 5 years old.

According to Director Jerri Coleman, the school, sponsored by St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Marin City, was started to give black and white children in Marin the chance to work and play with each other.

Located at the church, Drake and Donahue avenues, the school operates weekdays from 9 to 11:45 a.m. The racially integrated faculty consists of three women, one man and a number of student teachers, Miss Coleman said.

Persons interested in obtaining further information on the school should contact Miss Coleman.

A bench warrant has been issued for the arrest of William Roger Adair, 23, who failed to show up for a pretrial conference in Marin Superior Court.

Judge E. Warren McGuire ordered the man held without bail when he is captured. He failed to appear Tuesday for the conference on charges of possessing methamphetamine and marijuana.

Nancy Ellen Flyer, 22, and he were arrested Dec. 18 at their Tamalpais Valley home after a long investigation by San Francisco and Marin drug agents.

STRANGE WALLFELLOWS IN HONG KONG

Innocent Pleas To Pot Charges

Two 19-year-old Belvedere residents pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of possessing marijuana.

A preliminary hearing for Henry K. Mettier Jr. and Thomas Martin was set for Nov. 28.

Armed with a search warrant, Belvedere police entered their home on Beach Road Oct. 20 and found what they believed to be a small amount of pot stems, seeds and residue.

BRAZILIAN PORT CALL

Marin Physician Serves Aboard Floating Hospital

By MARY LEYDECKER

"The friendly, grateful feeling (of the Brazilians) toward the U.S. is the real benefit" of the hopsital ship Hope's stay in Natal, Brazil, according to a Marin doctor just returned from two months on the floating medical center.

Dr. Bradford Simmons, a general surgeon who practices in San Rafael, is unsure though whether there will be "residual medical benefits" from the Hope's Natal visit because the "people are so proverty-stricken they may not be able to carry on."

He is much more sure that the warmth with which he and other American medical practitioners were met was "worth every dime" spent on the mercy ship's annual voyage.

Dr. Simmons, 60-year-old Kentfield resident and member of the Marin Hospital District board, is the latest Marin physician to donate two months of his life to serve aboard the Hope, which has brought medical and dental services and modern training to poor nations for 12 years.

His wife, Margaret, accompanied him to Natal, a city of 270,000 people set on the bump of South America closest to Africa.

Unlike many of the 30 doctors aboard the Hope, Dr. Simmons and his wife rented a house on the beach at Natal — where the ocean is 75 degrees, he said, and the beaches "gorgeous."

The city itself, however, is run down despite some "very beautiful old buildings."

The doctor, a kindly-faced man whose eyes twinkle over half-glasses, described Brazil as a country plagued by poverty and illiteracy but where the present dictatorship is having some success in upgrading living conditions.

(A strange sidelight to the attempt to improve conditions is a surplus of doctors, he said. Medical schools were "geared up" to fill a doctor shortage but now are turning out more physicians, albeit many of them poorly trained, than are needed.)

Because of poverty and ignorance, Brazilians often did not seek early treatment for the variety of diseases prevalent there, according to Dr. Simmons.

"Everything we saw was in an advanced stage," he said, speaking of cancer, leprosy, schistosoamiasis, a fatal malady spread by a parasite carried by a little snail who lives in brackish water.

Polio and diptheria were still very common among chidren and a recently begun immunization program against the former has met with little success, according to Dr. Simmons.

Because of the high incidence of crippling diseases, the prosthetics department on the Hope was "kept very busy" fitting artificial limbs and braces, Dr. Simmons said.

In a children's hospital in Natal, the Marin doctor saw a number of chidren with "very bad cases of diptheria." Hospital conditions were appalling by American standards, he said, with not only a lack of equipment but a need for a general cleanup and screens to keep out "flies which covered wounds."

Mrs. Simmons, a nurse, met with some success in helping form a volunteer women's group to "make hospital conditions more comfortable" but she found that the "upper crust women were so pampered they hesitated to particpate in volunteer programs."

"They were afraid of getting diseases," Dr. Simmons said, but "many of the local doctors' wives were finally trying to clean up hospitals."

In a leper hospital Dr. Simmons saw one of the most touching sights of his trip. A young woman Peace Corps volunteer, "a little blond from Brooklyn was teaching these terribly deformed lepers how to read and write Portuguese," he said.

Dr. Simmons also said the Natal doctors who assisted the Americans in each case aboard the Hope, worked hard but were constantly hindered with problems like electricity failures and lack of laundry and delayed operations in their own hospitals.

The Brazilians, he said, "can take a gall bladder out as well as we can," so the thrust of the Hope doctors' medical teaching was on more complicated and sophisticated medical methods than used there.

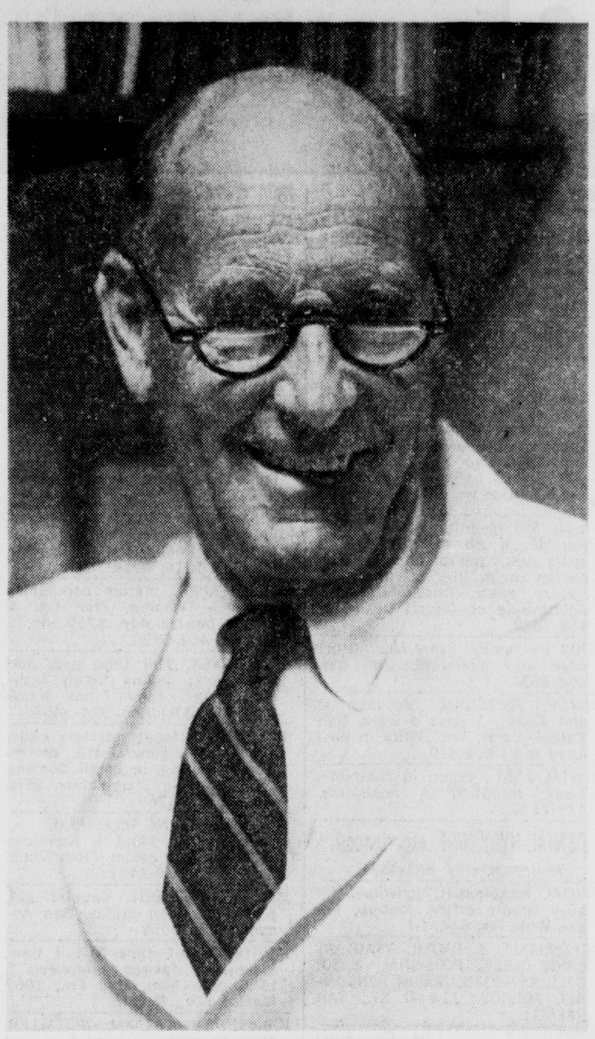

The first detached retina surgery and a modern prostate method were taught to the Brazilians along with the constant effort to upgrade the public health standards.

"The language barrier was tough," Dr. Simmons said. He added he learned enough in Portuguese for patients to converse simply with patients but that stopping for interpretation to Brazillian doctors and nurses slowed down surgeries.

Dr. Simmons, who a few years ago also volunteered in Kenya to relieve a missionary doctor, called his stay in Brazil "a rewarding experience I'll remember all my life."

He recounted how he and some other American doctors went to a rodeo one afternoon in the interior of Brazil. "It was announced over the loud speaker that the 'Hop-ee' doctors had come. A big cheer went up and we were asked up to the reviewing stand."

However, "I was just awful glad to get home," he said. "When you see how much real poverty and suffering there is in other parts of the world, you realize how lucky we are," he concluded.

DR. BRADFORD SIMMONS
"It was a rewarding experience, but after seeing so much poverty and ignorance I was glad to get home."

Application Deadline On Vacancy Set

The San Rafael City Council last night set Nov. 20 as the deadline for applications for the council seat vacated by the death of Councilman Harry A. Barbier.

Under city charter, the council has 60 days in which to fill the seat in lieu of calling a special election.

"We can't operate with just four councilmen. These tremendous decisions demand a full council," said Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

Bettini suggested that someone already serving on a city commission be tapped for the seat, saying an appointee from outside the city family "would have to be educated to city problems."

Councilman John A. Miskimen, however, urged that the council "open the process up" to give any resident the chance to apply.

Bettini said a fifth councilman will be appointed by Dec. 4 "and if we can't agree by that time I'll ask for a special election."

Jail Time In Assault Case

Cleophas McDonald, 23, of Marin City was ordered yesterday to spend a year in jail on an assault charge.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on three years probation as part of a plea bargain.

Originally charged with rape, he pleaded guilty to assault last month.

He was arrested Aug. 10 on a warrant issued after a San Francisco woman complained to sheriff's deputies that on June 11 a man forced her into a dark storage shed, then raped, beat and choked her for two to three hours.

San Rafael Approves On Housing Development

The San Rafael City Council last night approved a controversial 292-unit apartment and townhouse development off San Pablo Road when a vote on the project produced a 2-2 deadlock. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The stalemate upheld a 5-4 planning commission decision and allows the McCarthy Co. of Northern California to proceed with plans for development of the 54-acre site near Highway 101 in view of the Civic Center.

The plan — which calls for 168 apartment units and 124 townhouses — was sent back to the planning commission, pending completion of an environmental impact report.

The move by Councilmen Lawrence E. Mulryan and John A. Miskimen to scuttle the project was opposed by Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

Though the parcel is presently in an unclassified zoning district, Bettini said that area "is without question in the realm of residential zoning."

Mulyran — who called the project "one of the best we've seen" — said he opposed development of the site only because of apparent conflicts with the city's building moratorium.

The Terra Linda Homeowners Association last night appealed commission approval of a moratorium use permit for the project, saying the proposal violated permit policy.

"The property is not flat, the density is not substantially less than the maximum permitted and the project is opposed by the public," declared attorney Joseph A. Forest. He also cited drainage and traffic problems.

"You must find that there is substantial probability that the use proposed is consistent with the contemplated zoning of the property," he said amid loud applause from the audience.

A member of the Save San Pedro Peninsula Committee lauded the estimated $35,000 price tag of the proposed units, but opposed the density. She urged the council to table the proposal until the general plan is completed.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for the firm, said that 23 acres of the parcel will be dedicated as public open space and pedestrian and equestrian trails will link San Pablo Avenue with nearby Barbier Memorial Park.

"Development is inevitable," he declared, pointing to the nearby Civic Center, shopping and highway facilities. "It will fill a housing need in the $30,000 to $35,000 range," he said.

Bianchi disputed homeowners' claims that the county-wide plan left much of the parcel in open space, saying the county has slated the area for development.

He said that large trees would shade much of the development from view of the Civic Center.

Spend Limit For Schools Still Likely

Despite defeat of the Watson tax shift plan by voters Tuesday, the Dixie School District can expect continued attempts by the State Legislature to put limitations on school spending, the district board was told last night.

The Watson plan, Proposition 14, would have severely restricted school spending.

But Dr. Clifford W. Campbell, Dixie superintendent, said district staff told trustees that renewed legislative efforts to limit spending are expected through various bills when the new session of the Legislature gets under way.

A spending ceiling, said Campbell, probably would mean personnel cutbacks beyond those already made because of declining district enrollment.

Warrant Out In Crash Case

A bench warrant has been issued for the arrest of an 18-year-old Vacaville resident, who missed a court appearance on a felony charge of hit-and-run driving.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court ordered the arrest of Eugene Milton Paine, originally arrested Aug. 14 by San Rafael police.

More Youth Involvement Is Sought

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission told recreation director James R. Raymond last night to find some method of involving high school students more at commission meetings.

In the past, school principals have selected students to attend meetings as commission advisers, but most lost interest quickly and did not attend regularly.

Commissioners suggested formation of a student recreation committee with students from various schools electing representatives. They suggested the chairman of the group could then attend meetings to provide information on youth recreation needs.

Commissioners said interest may be higher if the students were elected by their peers rather than appointed and if they have a clear understanding of what would be expected of them.

The commission also directed Raymond to prepare a new policy giving schools lower rates for use of the swimming pool for classes and also asked him to prepare a review of the fee schedule for rental of the community center.

Jack Is Stolen

Jensen Calls Committee On Redevelopment 'Political Ploy'

A San Rafael City councilman charged the San Rafael Town Meeting Association with "making a political ploy" in attempting to form a citizens advisory committee on redevelopment.

At issue was the Town Meeting's longstanding request that the council form an advisory committee on redevelopment as well as other matters.

"It's a political ploy," declared Councilman Fred E. Jensen upon hearing association president Steven Sachs urge such a committee be formed. "I see the same group here all the time. There's no representation from Sun Valley, Bret Harte, or other areas," he said.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini also opposed the proposed committee. "I'm concerned with diluting our authority in any area," he said.

"It's a question of how you want to run city government as far as I'm concerned," the mayor said. "The council has the capability, facilities and know-how to make major decisions."

Sachs, who said the committee would be aimed at encouraging citizen participation in redevelopment, was backed by Councilman John A. Miskimen. The councilman called for resolving the issue before the Nov. 20 redevelopment hearing.

The council agreed, however, to appoint a citizens committee on the general plan and open space. Tentative plans by general plan consultants Duncan and Jones call for a committee of 100 residents representing all city geographic areas and viewpoints. "We have a real need for broad input in these areas," said Bettini.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

STOP — Approved stop signs for the following intersections: Arias Street at Las Pavadas Avenue; El Cerriot at Culloden Park Road; Jewell Street at Mission Avenue and Hillside Avenue at Spring Grove avenues.

OPEN SPACE — Said the city would give the Mont Marin Assessment District a matching grant of $158,750 from open space bond funds for acquisition of open space. The council said it would grant matching funds to other groups forming assessment districts for open space if the open area benefits the entire city.

VOLUNTEERS — Approved the concept of a student dispatcher program for the fire department. The program will allow Terra Linda volunteer firemen to become members of the San Rafael department, although volunteers will have no active role in fire suppression. A pay scale has not yet been established for the dispatchers.

JOINT USE — Said joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base was "something San Rafael should have a say in," but took no action on the matter.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Nov. 20.

Paving Acceptance Delayed By Board

Election Preceded Strawberry Group

The Independent-Journal yesterday incorrectly identified the Strawberry Area Community Council as a group which fought proposed annexation of the area to the City of Tiburon in Oct., 1971.

Actually, though the leadership of the antiannexation group later formed the community council, the Strawberry Area Community Council wasn't established until Nov., 1971.

Our service is "late" but nice. Marin commuters have found it very convenient that our service department is now open till 7 pm. Monday thru Friday. Gun Struggle Figure To Superior Court

A 34-year-old Castro Valley man said to have disarmed a policeman during an attempted theft has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on felony charges of attempted grand theft and assault with a deadly weapon.

Barros, also known as Hoss Barrows, was arrested last month in connection with an attempt to steal $620 worth of copper pipe from the corporation yard of the Marin Municipal Water District. A scuffle with officer David Zehnder ensued.

Zehnder said that on May 12 he surprised two men loading pipe into a car. One fled on foot; the other reportedly took Zehnder's gun and fled on foot after trying to ram a car through closed gates.

Codefendant Michael Lopez, 30, of no known address was arrested shortly after the struggle and pleaded guilty to a charge of grand theft.

Organist Frazier To Play Monday

Ray Frazier of Greenbrae will perform as guest organist at 8 p.m., Monday under the sponsorship of the Petaluma Organ Club at Sonoma Joe's Restaurant north of Petaluma.

Frazier has been a member of the Navy Symphony and Concert Band, with various rajio systems and as organist at the old Roxy Theater in New York City.

Perjury For Murder Not Surgery Is Word

In yesterday's Independent-Journal, Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales was incorrectly quoted as saying a crime for which the death penalty is mandatory in California is surgery for murder.

The crime is actually perjury which leads to the execution of a person. The misquote was due to a misunderstanding of remarks made on the telephone by the district attorney.

Auto Case Sentencing Delayed

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday postponed sentence of Angelo Allegra, pending the outcome of an appeal by the former car salesman convicted of selling used cars with altered odometers.

Judge E. Warren McGuire told the 47-year-old Novatan he doesn't have to serve 90 days in jail or pay a $500 fine until after the State Court of Appeal makes a decision.

Allegra appealed Oct. 16 after Judge David Menary Jr. gave him the jail time, fine and three years probation. He was convicted of two counts of grand theft by a jury in July.

The jury concluded he had been selling for more than they were worth cars with the mileage rolled back.

Allegra's former employer at T and D Auto lot in Ignacio, Timothy Daniel O'Donnell, 31, pleaded guilty to grand theft and received four weekends in jail.

Allegra and O'Donnell, an Oakland resident, were arrested last November after a lengthy investigation by the state Department of Motor Vehicles.

Due to a typographical error on Oct. 17, the Independent-Journal incorrectly reported the fine as $4,500.

Redwood—A Team Of Outstanding Individuals

By ROBERT MILLER

Coming off a sensational season which they capped by winning the Marin County Athletic League meet, Redwood High School's cross country runners were expected to win the Division III championships today.

The Giants, with five runners returning from the team that won the North Coast finals a year ago, will take on eight teams from the North Bay, Sonoma and Marin leagues at Dan Foley Park in Vallejo.

"We're not just a team with outstanding individuals; we're a team with seven outstanding individuals," says Doug Basham, coach of the Redwood High School cross country team. "It's really been a 'team' thing all year, and all the guys are basically hard working."

The Redwood team went undefeated in Marin County Athletic League competition this year, enroute to the league title. All but four of the Giants' league victories were shutouts, and they beat practically everyone in sight. The Redwood squad defeated Tamalpais twice, 17-41 and 15-42, San Rafael, 15-49 and 15-50, Terra Linda, 15-50 and 16-39, and Drake, San Marin, and Novato twice each, by shutout scores of 15-50.

Redwood also took top team honors in the MCAL cross country meet last Saturday, placing four men in the top five.

"Our dual-meet season was basically against MCAL teams," Basham says. "We didn't really expect much competition, and that's just about the way it turned out. Some of the teams just haven't got enough runners. I know Novato and San Marin have had some problems the last couple years getting together a full team. That really makes it tough when we've got a strong group and they don't even enter a team against us.

"Most of the meets we got good competition from were in the exhibition meets on Saturdays, plus one outside meet with John F. Kennedy of Sacramento."

Things seemed pretty smooth for Redwood in the early season, up to a point. "We hadn't really been tested until we ran in the Soquel Invitational, which was set up specifically to run the best teams in Northern California against each other," says Basham. "It was really a tight race, and a good one too. Merced won it, Leigh (of San Jose) was second, and we were third, about 12 points back."

Of Merced, Basham points out, "They have a very strong team, probably one of the best in California, and certainly the best in Northern California. One of their returning lettermen was second in the state in the two-mile run last year, and they also have a second man who is very close to him. It's pretty difficult to do well against them."

The Giant runners ran against Merced a second time this year at Pleasant Hill, and this time the scores were a lot closer. Merced won the meet, and the Redwood team placed second, five points back. And the third place team was 122 points back.

"That's the last time we'll meet Merced because they're in a different section," says Basham. "But when we start comparing ourselves with them and the other teams in the Soquel and Pleasant Hill meets, we look pretty strong."

San Marin and San Rafael were also to represent the MCAL in the Division III meet. From NBL Petaluma, Napa and Montgomery were entered, and from the SCL Piner, Rancho Cotati and Healdsburg.

"We returned five men from the team that won the North Coast finals last year, so we expect to do pretty good," Basham said before today's meet.

How do the Redwood runners feel about the season and today's meet?

Pete Sweeney, who took second place in the MCAL meet, remarks, "The final could be pretty tight. There are a few good teams, but I think if we all have good races, we should win pretty easily."

Dave Brainerd, eighth in the meet, says, "The competition in the county has been very weak, but when it comes to this meet, I think we are going to pretty well clean up."

Team togetherness has been a part of the Redwood season. Brian Tracy explains, "All of us have had a lot of fun, running together quite a bit. I think that's the most important thing, running for fun, and that's part of it here."

Brainerd summed up the season. "Team spirit has been good. And it's been a lot of fun winning."

A Testimonial For Buck Shaw

It will be a crowded banquet room at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco Saturday night when more than 500 friends of Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw pay tribute to the man at a testimonial dinner being co-sponsored by University of Santa Clara Alumni Association and the 49ers.

Robert F. McCullough of Greenbrae, president of the alumni association, said more than 500 are expected to cough up $25 per plate to honor the former coach and newly elected member of the National Football Hall of Fame.

Shaw played football as a 167-pound tackle at Notre Dame under Knute Rockne 1919-21 and those powerful teams lost just one game in that three-year span. He coached at University of Nevada and North Carolina State before coming to the West Coast and University of Santa Clara. There he was line coach from 1929 to 1935 and head coach from 1936 to 1942. Buck's teams compiled a record of 47 wins, 10 losses and 4 ties while he was head man for the Broncos. His 1937 and '38 teams defeated Louisiana State University in two straight Sugar Bowls. That 1937 team allowed a total of nine points scored against it all season.

Shaw coached at Cal in 1945 and then from 1946 to 1954 he was with the 49ers as head coach until he was fired, the only time he left a team on someone else's decision. After spending three years coaching the Air Force Academy team, he went back to pro football with the Philadelphia Eagles 1958-60, winning the NFL title, something he could never do when he was in San Francisco. He retired from coaching in 1960.

Guest speaker Saturday night will be Paul Laxalt, former governor of Nevada and alumnus of Santa Clara, a student there when Shaw was coaching the Broncs.

McCullough (Class of '52) said the alumni association had tried to get actor Pat O'Brien and Governor Reagan as guest speaker but both men were already tied up for that evening. O'Brien played the part of Rockne in the 1940 film, "Knute Rockne — All American," and Reagan, remember, played the part of George Gipp, the "Gipper."

Frank (Hands) Slavich of Tiburon (Class of '33) will be among the oldtime Broncos paying tribute to Shaw.

ANOTHER DINNER which is expected to draw a half thousand souls is the annual Father Hub Flynn Dinner tomorrow night on the University of San Francisco Campus.

Two Marin County men will be among eight joining the USF Athletic Hall of Fame, a high point of the dinner. Valentino (Tino) Sabuco of San Rafael played All-Coast center and was mentioned for football All-America during Joe Kuharich's first years at USF in the late '40s. The other is Jay Hale of Larkspur from the 1927-30 basketball era when USF was St. Ignatius College, a school with 375 students and a string of giant-killing basketball teams coached by the late Jimmy Needles. They were called the Gray Fog then, and they thrashed Cal and the Olympic Club in games still talked about by the old-timers.

Ollie Matson and Gino Marchetti from the memorable USF team of 1951 will be at the dinner for a special salute in recognition of their recent induction into the National Football League Hall of Fame.

HOCKEY RULING

Beginning Of End For Reserve Clause

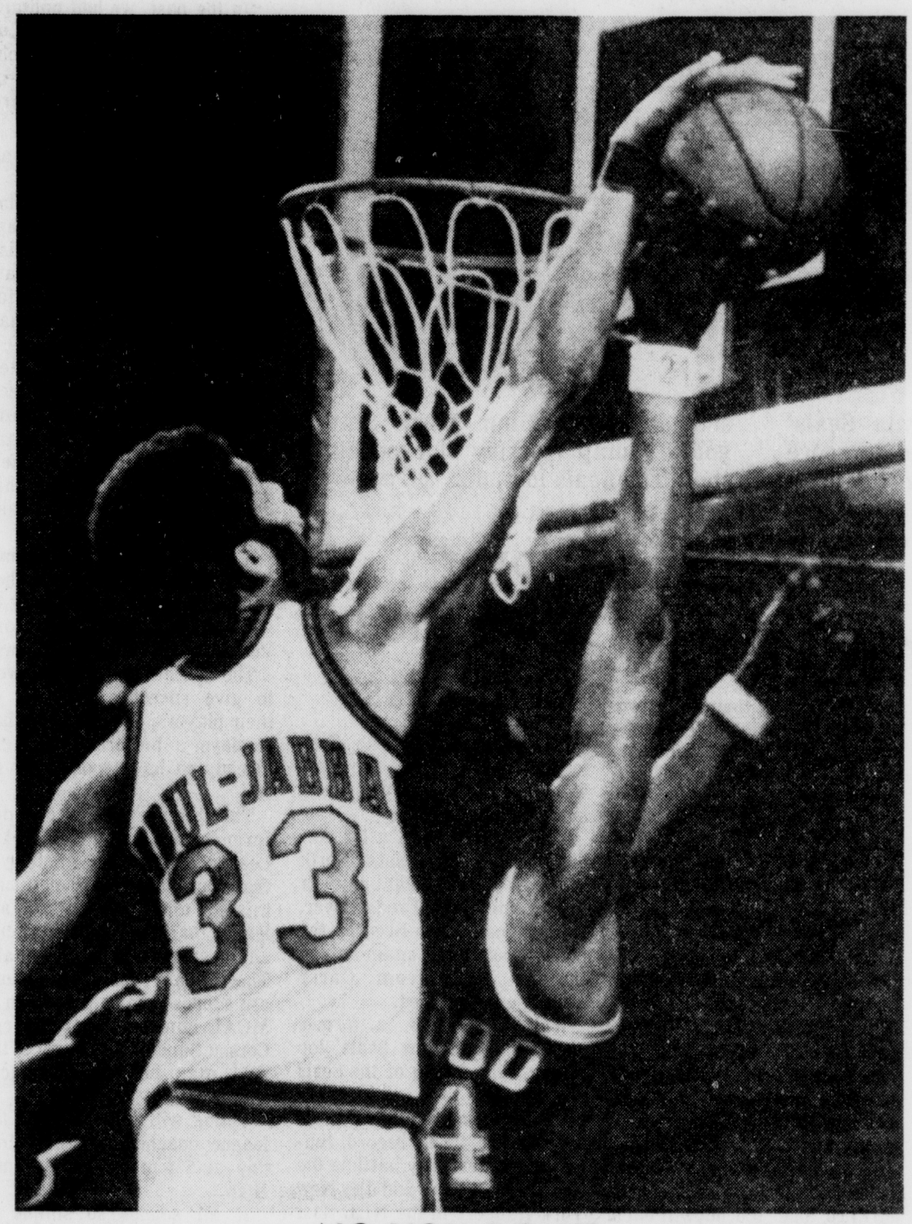

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—In a ruling that probably spells the beginning of the end of the National Hockey League's reserve clause, a federal judge has ordered the NHL not to take legal actions against players who jumped to the new World Hockey Association.

Declaring that the NHL's "fundamental motive is the making of money," U.S. District Judge A. Leon Higginbotham said Wednesday the league's reserve clause should be subject to regulation under federal antitrust laws.

Higginbotham issued a temporary injunction that will permit superstars like Bobby Hull and Derek Sanderson to earn their huge WHA salaries without fear of legal recrimination from the NHL.

Thomas To Sit Out Year

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Duane Thomas won't be playing in the National Football League this season.

The San Diego Chargers placed the controversial running back on the reserve list Wednesday when he failed to appear for practice. This means he cannot again be activated in 1972.

"Duane is not prepared to play this season," said Chargers Coach Harland Svare. "Obviously, he's got some problems that won't permit him to play now.

Thomas, regarded as one of the most talented, young running backs in pro football, was acquired before the start of the season from the Dallas Cowboys for running back Mike Montgomery and wide receiver Billy Parks.

He was activated for the first time last Sunday but saw no action. He did not take calisthenics with the team then, walked along the sidelines during the playing of the National Anthem and sat on the bench throughout the game, staring straight ahead.

"His actions Sunday were not deliberate and were not intended to be disrespectful," said Svare. "He is a very complicated young man.

"The problem is not narcotics. That marijuana incident in Texas was the only incident."

Thomas went through a full workout Tuesday and looked quick on kickoff and punt returns. However, Svare regarded Thomas' absence Wednesday as the final straw in the controversy which has been drawn out over more than half the football season.

Svare said the Chargers would "not be hurtin'" for running backs and the status of Thomas will have no influence on the Chargers' draft next year.

An Olympic Bid By Squaw Valley

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—Squaw Valley, which hosted the 1960 winter Olympics, would be "more than happy" to host the 1976 games, according to the head of a firm which operates the Sierra ski resort.

Alexander C. Cushing, president of the Squaw Valley Development Corp. which owns the valley's major facilities, issued the statement Wednesday after Colorado voters rejected plans to finance the 1976 winter games in Denver with public funds.

Coloradans turned out in record numbers at the polls Tuesday to ban further use of their tax money for the Olympics, awarded to Denver May 12, 1970.

There was no possibility that an effort would be made to keep the games in Colorado by paying for them with private funds.

Clifford Buck, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee and a Denver resident, called it "a tragedy for the state and to some degree for the nation, inasmuch as it gives the United States and Colorado the image of accepting an assignment and a commitment on which they reneged.

"If the world wants to come to Squaw Valley, we would be more than happy to welcome them here," Cushing said in the statement released by his firm. Cushing was out of state on business.

Hans Von Nolde, the firm's public relations director, said if the international Olympic Committee next week asks other cities to bid for the games, "we'll very definitely be interested."

Von Nolde said Squaw Valley, just west of Lake Tahoe, should have the "inside track" among possible U.S. sites for getting the games because "the best Olympics ever held were held in Squaw Valley."

Lake Placid, N.Y., has been mentioned as a possible U.S. site. The United States celebrates its bicentenial in 1976.

"The people loved the 1960 Olympics here," he said. "It put this area on the map."

Cushing was a leader in the effort to bring the 1960 Olympics to Squaw Valley.

William Briner, a Placer County Supervisor and a member of the two-state Tahoe Regional Planning Association, said he will ask the Placer County Supervisors to endorse the Olympics for Squaw Valley. He also said a bill will be submitted to the California State Legislature, which reconvenes Thursday, asking for its endorsement.

Prep Bowl Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the Top of the Bay Bowl Nov. 18 in Napa have gone on sale at eight locations in Marin, ticket committee spokesman Don Lucas announced today.

The county's seven public high schools will have 50 adult and 50 student tickets available. The adult allocation may be increased later, Lucas said. Student allocation will not — if student tickets are sold out, other students must buy adult tickets.

The eighth is Taveggia-Brusati Sport and Saddle Shop, 1345 Fourth Street, San Rafael, which will have an unlimited number of adult tickets.

The school which earns the right to represent the Marin County Athletic League in the post-season football game will receive an additional allocation of tickets Monday, Lucas said.

Celtics Cool Off Red Hot Warriors

BOSTON (UPI)—The red hot Golden State Warriors came to town but they met an even hotter Boston Celtics team.

The Celtics regulars decided the game in three quarters on Wednesday night and rested while the rookies and some veterans that haven't seen much action this season played most of the last quarter. The Warriors took star Rick Barry out in that quarter also.

Boston beat Golden State 128111, after taking a 104-80 lead at the end of three periods. Boston is now 11-1 and leads the Atlantic Division of the National Basketball Association.

Riding a six-game win streak, the Warriors played even with Boston in the first period as the lead changed hands four times, winding up 27-25 in Boston's favor. Cazzie Russell scored all of his 10 points in the opening period for the Warriors.

The Celtics started clicking on their fast break during the next period as Paul Silas scored 12 points and John Havlicek got eight for a 64-54 halftime lead.

Silas and Don Chaney, who had 23 points, were credited by coach Tom Heinsohn with getting the running attack moving.

"Silas and Chaney really did the running for us," Heinsohn said. "They were both super. This was easily Chaney's best game since he's come to Boston."

Chaney was pleased with his performance "but I've got to give some credit to my teammates because they gave me the ball," he said.

"I've been trying to move around more this year than I did last season and they, my teammates, are becoming more aware of me on the court and I'm getting the ball more often," Chaney said.

Chaney, a 6-foot-5 guard who usually concentrates on defense and rebounding, has been with the Celtics since his 1968 rookie season.

Reserve center Henry Finkel played most of the first half because Dave Cowens picked up three fouls in the first seven minutes. Finkel, who got eight points and four rebounds, has not played much this season but he said he was prepared.

"I was ready to play because I've been practicing hard for the last two days," Finkel said. He said he had been practicing defending against Silas and Don Nelson "to try to develop more quickness under the boards."

Havlicek's 25 points was high for the Celtics, followed by Chaney's 23 and Silas' 20. Barry led the Warriors with 34 points. Fritz Williams and Nate Thurmond had 19 points each for Golden State.

"Well, he's still a rookie and he's got a lot to learn out there," Heinsohn said.

Seagram's 7 Crown. It's America's whiskey.

At times like these, more Americans drink and enjoy 7 Crown than the leading Scotch and Canadian combined. And they do so for one reason: the taste. A consistent lightness and smoothness that has convinced millions of Americans that they can Say Seagram's and Be Sure.

Thank you, America, for making our whiskey your whiskey.

No Trade Expected For Juan, Willie

It was common gossip in the front office of the Giants these past months that Willie McCovey or Juan Marichal or both would be traded after the 1972 baseball season ended. Suddenly the gossip has stopped.

Jerry Donovan, Horace Stoneham's righthand man, silenced the idle talk which started in whispers following the trade of Willie Mays and later reached the outspoken stage.

PRUNING OF Mays' $165,000 salary from the payroll was just the first of a series of economy moves — so the talk went. The million dollar deficit at Candlestick Park's gate this season dictated further economies — Marichal's $140,000 salary or McCovey's $110,000 or both.

Donovan was not unaware of the front office gossip. He didn't issue any directive to stop it. But he now has effectively silenced it with a simple statement.

"McCovey and Marichal will be with us next spring," said Donovan. "That's our plan. I talked with Mr. Stoneham last weekend and that's the way he feels.

"LET'S BE realistic about Marichal. He's just had a back operation and won't know for sure until next spring about the future of his own career. It would be unrealistic to think any other club would be interested in him until he proves his back now is sound."

And McCovey?

"Stretch," said Donovan, "could have another big year next season and we hope he will.

"It would take a fantastic deal for Mr. Stoneham to part with McCovey."

AND WHAT ABOUT Bobby Bonds who said at the end of the season that he heard rumors the Giants intended to trade him?

"I know how those rumors got started," said Donovan. "It was on our last road trip to Cincinnati. A Cincinnati scout asked one of the newspapermen traveling with the team if Bonds were available.

"I don't know how the thing mushroomed but later Bob Howsam (executive vice president of the Cincinnati ball club) asked me if there was any truth to a report that Bonds was available.

"I TOLD HOWSAM there was no truth to it at all, that if we had any idea of trading Bonds it would have to be a deal for someone like Steve Carlton (27-game winner for the Phillies this year and unanimous winner of the National League's Cy Young Award).

The Giants still may make some trades when major league owners get together later in the month in Honolulu for their annual winter meeting but no super deals are contemplated.

Tomorrow To Decide Sonoma Grid Titles

Two football league championships will be decided tomorrow as Petaluma and Tomales high schools go up against a pair of wildcats at 8 p.m.

In other Southern Sonoma County grid action this weekend, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park finishes out its schedule with a non-league game against Menlo School in Menlo Park, Saturday at 2 p.m., and St. Vincent visits Kelseyville Saturday at 2 p.m. for its North Central League II finale.

Petaluma has clinched at least a tie for tha North Bay League title, with a 5-0 record, but it must beat the visiting Ukiah Wildcats to win it outright and represent the NBL in the prep playoffs with the Marin County Athletic League on Nov. 18 in Napa.

Ukiah, which finished in a three-way tie for the championship last year, is 4-1 and might be the most explosive offensive team the Trojans have faced all year.

The Wildcats are averaging 28 points per game in NBL play, and have racked up scores of 46, 38, 31 and 28 points. Much of their point production is attributable to the accurate passing of Leo Cook, who has thrown for over 1,000 yards this season.

The Trojans, who have scored 20.3 points per game, have the defensive edge with a 6.3 point per game yield compared to bhe Wildcats' 16.6.

On paper, no two teams could be more evenly matched than Tomales and the Calistoga Wildcats who will slug it out for the North Central League championship in Calistoga.

Both teams are 4-0 in league, but the similarity only begins there. The Braves and the Wildcats have both scored 112 points in league play, and have given up just one touchdown each. The Braves allowed a kick after the touchdown though, to give Calistoga the statistical edge.

Both teams have outstanding quarterbacks and runners, in Spirito Ballatore and Brian Horick for Tomales and Kip Losey and Frank Giammona for Calistoga.

Although Rancho Cotate has already clinched their second consecutive Sonoma County League championship and the number one ranking in the Redwood Empire, the Cougars won't be easing up against Menlo as they have a 17-game winning streak on the line.

The St. Vincent Mustangs could finish with their best record in NCL II plaq in two years if they beat Kelseyville. The Mustangs are 1-3 in league, and the Indians have a 2-2 mark.

Glover Welcomed With Loss

The Seals dropped a 5-2 verdict to the Minnesota North Stars Wednesday night in their first game since Fred Glover, former coach once fired by the Seals, took over again on an interim basis from Garry Young, who resigned.

California moves into Buffalo tonight with a 2-8-3 record. Buffalo is mysteriously battling the likes of Montreal and the New York Rangers in the NHL East with a 7-1-5 record.

49er Defensive Backs Are Having Problems

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—The San Francisco 49er defensive backfield has problems as the Prospectors ready for Sunday's invasion of Candlestick Park by the Baltimore Colts.

All-pro cornerback Jim Johnson has a neck sprain and may not play; Mel Phillips plays despite a sore ankle; and Bruce Taylor is bothered by a groin muscle pull.

One bright note has been that rookie Windlan Hall has filled in solidly at cornerback so far this season when needed.

Meanwhile, Coach Dick Nolan answered some critics who have suggested that Jim Thomas should play more since his 5.1 average is nearly double that of the rest of the ball carriers.

Nolan said, "I'll continue to use him in certain situations because he's effective that way. At the moment I have no plan to make changes in the backfield."

Nolan said that Thomas "was a receiver in college, and he has the instincts of an end, not a running back."

In other words, while Thomas can occasionally break the long run, he doesn't pick up the extra yard on the short plunges by trying to run over people.

Nolan also indicated he feels the other backs are superior blockers.

Rockets Center Signs Contract

DENVER (UPI)—Dave Robisch, 6-foot-10 center for the Denver Rockets, Wednesday signed a new contract with the American Basketball Association club.

Siani Says Chiefs Are Roughest

OAKLAND (UPI)—Mike Siani, the Oakland Raider's rookie wide receiver, has caught 21 passes for 385 yards and five touchdowns, but he says he finally got initiated into the National Football League last Sunday.

"It had to be the roughest game I was in yet," Siani said of last Sunday's loss at Kansas City. "And the roughest part was the linebackers. They were really taking some swings."

Siani was nose-to-nose with linebacker Bobby Bell of the Chiefs. "Bell got called once for a personal foul. "Once," he said.

Behind Bell was Emmitt Thomas, whom Siani called "the best defensive back I've worked against so far."

Siani, who'll start Sunday at Cincinnati, says he has "already learned to be more disciplined in my routes." He says fellow receivers Fred Biletnikoff and Ray Chester have given him invaluable tips.

But the big thing is to get experience, the ex-Villanova star says.

"Even playing teams the second time is easier, so I can see how important experience will be."

PREP NOTES

Coaches To Pick All Leaguers

By LEW CODDINGTON

Like sage supreme court justices, the Marin County Athletic League's football coaches will meet Monday evening for sober deliberation aimed at selecting the all-league team.

The method they use will be new, borrowed from the Humboldt-Del Norte League, with a few modifications. Its two main features will be a limit on nominations and a requirement that the coaches shut up, an intriguing requirement to impose on people who make their living by yelling.

"In the past, we had unlimited nominations," said Don Lucas, Terra Linda head coach, who was the moving force in getting the new procedure adopted.

"Now, each team will be allowed five nominations as a minimum, plus one more for each league game the team wins." If Lucas' Trojans finish up at 5-1, they may nominate up to 10; if Tamalpais, for example, finishes at 1-5, it may nominate up to six.

Nominations are submitted by the coaches, who often check with their players. "For example, I'll ask my offensive guard who's the toughest guy he's played against, and take that into consideration," said Drake coach Bob Franceschini.

If only one player is nominated at a position, other coaches will be given an opportunity to submit another nomination. Voting by secret ballot follows.

The coaches won't be allowed to give speeches in favor of their players, on the theory that a player's performance ought already to have spoken for itself.

This requirement is one difference with the Del Norte League's procedure. Another is that nominations are not submitted until after the last league game — more difficult administratively, but more fair. Theoretically, the nomincations are supposed to be phoned in to MCAL commissioner George Corson Sunday. In practice, the rule may be relaxed, Lucas said.

Voting will take place at the league coaches' meeting Monday at 5 p.m. at Terra Linda High.

It all sounds so simple in print. But try sitting down some time and selecting three linebackers from among Ken Straw, Bob Fulton, Fred Doar, Scott Logan and Steve Withers. Then it's not simple anymore.

VERSATILITY — Then again, you could solve all your problems by selecting Tim Nowell to play every position. The versatile Tamalpais senior filled more holes than your neighborhood dentist last Saturday against Redwood.

THE JINX — Redwood has had the bad luck to play against the Independent-Journal Prep of the Week in every league game this year, and the good skill to hold four of the five stars to sub-par performances.

This week, the Giants don't play against him, but they do have to practice against him — their own halfback, Daryl Edralin.

THE JINX (cont.) — Redwood apparently is a tough team to play, because every league team which has lost to Redwood also has lost the following week. The Giants regret creating this jinx, however, for the team they beat last week — Tamalpais — must upset Terra Linda this week if Redwood is to win an undisputed championship.

ALL IN THE FAMILY — The captain of the Marin Catholic freshman football team is named Mike Schalich. The junior varsity captain is Bill Schalich. The varsity co-captain is Jim Schalich. They are brothers. The other varsity co-captain is Ben Partee. What's he doing in there? He's a cousin.

Not only that, but another brother, John, starred last year. Evidently, that family can play football. (The preceding announcement was brought to you by the Marin Catholic football program, which, I must admit, scooped me.)

Dewar Victory By Miss Walsh

TORQUAY, England — Sharon Walsh of San Rafael yesterday survived the third round of women's singles in the Dewar Cup indoor tennis championships with a 6-3, 6-1 win over Veronica Burton of England.

Miss Walsh was joined in victory by two other American girls. Julie Heldman of Houston defeated Penny Moor of England, 6-2, 6-2, and Patti Hogan of La Jolla downed Jackie Fayter of England, 6-3, 2-6, 7-6.

Rader Is Rookie Of The Year

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Catchers Carlton Fisk of the Boston Red Sox Dave dave Rader of the San Francisco Giants won the Sporting News rookie-of-the-year awards Wednesday in a poll of major league players.

Fisk's selection by the players marked only the second time since the national sports weekly began rookie awards in 1946 that an American League catcher had won the honor.

Rader, however, is the third National League backstop to earn the rookie citation in the past five years, the weekly said.

The Sporting News also said Boston's Luis Tiant in the American League and Cincinnati's Bobby Tolan in the National League earned comeback awards.

"Early in 1971, following a freak injury to his right shoulder, Tiant was jobless and, after he did hook up with a major league club late in the season, his record with Boston was 1-7," the publication said.

"This past season Tiant very nearly pitched the Red Sox to a divisional championship," it said. He finished with a 15-6 record and a 1.91 earned run average.

"Tolan, from his zero production with the Reds in 1971, shook off the effects of operations to repair the twice-torn achilles tendon in his right leg and, while he didn't match his impressive statistics of two years earlier, proved his recovery almost complete by putting together a productive 1972 season with the National League champions, batting .283, driving in 82 runs and swiping 41 bases," the weekly said.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Uphill, Down Dale

By LEE TREVINO

Hitting uphill is one shot I've done a lot of experimenting with. I may be remembered with the guy who invented the pendulum putter and aspirin ball markers (for people with hangovers).

The tendency is to hook a ball from an uphill lie. The reason is that most golfers fall back from it. They fall back because all the weight is on the rear leg, and the front leg is bent. So they fall away and a big hook results.

It's tough to hit a low shot from an uphill stance. The ball either pops straight up in the air, or squirts to the left, or both.

I take my stance with my weight riding on my right toe. Raising up on my toes levels my stance, bringing up my right side about four inches.

With your body on an even keel, and right toe firmly planted, the weight is transferred more to the left leg throughout the shot. The result is a low trajectory and a straight ball with natural backspin.

Hitting downhill, just reverse it. Raise up on the toe of the forward foot to bring your body level. It works like a charm.

Santa Clara Voters Approve New Arena

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

SAN JOSE — Santa Clara County voters have approved a $22 million sports and entertainment arena by a substantial 256,000 to 180,000 vote.

The plans call for a 17,450-seat area with parking for 5830 cars to occupy 60 acres near the Bayshore Highway. It should be finished in three years.

San Jose has no pro football or hockey teams, but is expected to start bidding for one, or possibly seek to host some games with the California Seals and Golden State Warriors or try to get the teams to move to San Jose permanently.

But backers say that, if needed they can make a profit just on entertainment events and local college athletics.

Baseball

PHILADELPHIA — Pitcher Chris Short, sidelined most of last season with a herniated disc, was signed by the Milwaukee Brewers Thursday barely 20 minutes after he was given his unconditional release by the Philadelphia Phillies. Short, 35, compiled a 132-127 record in 13 seasons with Philadelphia.

Basketball

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Gail Goodrich, the leading scorer on last season's NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers, will be lost for two weeks with a sprained left ankle, the club announced Wednesday.

Goodrich was hurt in the Lakers' 122-109 win over the Houston Rockets here Tuesday night.

Football

PITTSBURGH — Defensive back Charlie Beatty was placed on waivers by the Pittsburgh Steelers Wednesday and will be given his unconditional release if another team does not claim the former North Texas State star.

Tennis

STOCKHOLM — Two Americans advanced to the third round of the $63,500 Stockholm Open Tennis Tournament Wednesday as Frank Froehling of Miami, Fla., defeated Romania's Ion Tiriac, 6-4, 7-6, and Jeff Borowiak of Berkeley, Calif., ousted veteran Roy Emerson of Australia, 6-3, 7-6.

TV To Present USC Vs. UCLA

NEW YORK (UPI)—ABC-TV announced today that it will televise nationally the crucial Pacific Eight clash between Southern California and UCLA on Saturday night, Nov. 18, beginning at 8 p.m. EST, and the Big Eight showdown battle between Oklahoma and Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 23, beginning at 2 p.m. EST.

The network said that it would televise five regional games on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 18, and that they would be announced at a later date.

On Thursday night, Nov. 23, ABC-TV will televise the Texas Texas A&M contest.

San Rafael To Host Berkeley

The Bulldog coach was talking about the game his team will play tomorrow at 8 p.m. against visiting Berkeley High, a tough foe which is leading the Alameda County Athletic League with a 6-0 record and is 7-1 over-all.

"They're better than any club we've faced out of the league, including Antioch," said Muster. He was especially wary about running backs Lew Smith (averaging 7.8 yards a carry) and Gerald Bennett (5.5), quarterback Steve Mason (no interceptions all year) and linebacker Ray Bell.

""We're starting to jell a little bit," said Muster, somewhat ruefully since this is his team's final game of the year. The Bulldogs upset Novato last week, 7-6, to finish their Marin County Athletic League season at 3-3 and even their over-all mark at 4-4.

"We will play everybody, win or lose," he said. "We'll have 41 people in the ball game" — including, naturally, many of the people who will be responsible for the Bulldogs' fortunes next year when their 23 seniors graduate.

Japan Has World Cup Golf Lead

MELBOURNE (UPI)—Japan led the field with a three-stroke lead over Taiwan and Belgium in the first round lead in the 20th World Golf Cup championship at the Royal Melbourne course today.

Korea sat in third place with a combined two-man total of 146, four over the par for the 6,946 yard (6,532 meter) par 71 course, with host nation Australia, Italy, New Zealand, and Canada huddled on 148 in fourth berth.

The United States, represented by Jim Jamieson and Tom Weiskopf, overnight tournament favorites with Australia, turned in a dissapointing combined 150 to trail the leaders by nine shots. Eighty-six golfers from 43 nations battled for today's lead.

Several of the world's top professional golfers were enraged over the conditions as they struggled for up to six and half hours on the 72-hole course.

"It 's bordering on the bloody ridiculous to take six and a half hours to play 18 holes," English skipper Tony Jacklin said.

"When the people on the 18th green clapped the final putt, I didn't know whether they were clapping the play or the fact that we had made it," he quipped.

"I tried very hard right through the 18th but I shot a 77. I'd be a hypocrite if I said I enjoyed the game. Something has to be done to quicken up the play," he said.

Marquard's Record

Rube Marquad in 1912 set a record that still stands. He won 19 straight games for the New York Giants. Steve Carlton of Philadelphia won 18 in a row this year then lost to Atlanta 2-1 on Aug. 22.

THE SKI SCENE

A Long Winter Is On Horizon

By CHARLIE COANE

A long, hard winter in California. That's the prediction this ski season from the old-timers in the mountains, and the so-called weather experts — or meteorologists — concur. That means skiing any time now and continuing perhaps well into May for the die-hards. This is good news for skiers. But too much snow, as a few years ago when mny lifts were buried until March, is not a pleasant thought.

Last season was somewhat below average for total snowfall in the Golden State. Yet there was no slowdown in skiing activity. In fact, the resorts in general did quite well. Squaw Valley, for example, had an increase in the number of skiers by 25 per cent over the season before. All owners are optimistic again this season.

So what's new this year in the Sierra? Probably the most significant happenings include the opening of two new big-time resorts (Kirkwood Meadows and Northstar) and the first full season for another (Tahoe Donner).

Kirkwood Meadows begins operations this season with five lifts and a multi-million dollar village. It's located about 30 minutes from South Lake Tahoe via highways 50, 89 and 88. Ultimately, Kirkwood hopes to be one of America's biggest resorts — able to handle 8,500 skiers daily with 15 lifts.

Northstar is located on the road between Kings Beach and Truckee, and it also will open with five lifts to handle about 3,000 skiers per day. The goal? It's 10,000 daily skiers. Northstar developers plan eventually to limit the slopes to residents and property owners — with a limited number of "outside" day skiers.

Tahoe, Donner, located near Truckee, will have its first full season. They, too, will be limiting the skiing to property owners, but this season the general public can ski on a reservation basis. This area aims at the "growing family" and has mostly beginning and intermediate slopes.

Other items and improvements at a glance: Slide Mountain has snow making equipment for its lower slopes, and night skiing. Once again, Slide has a joint ticket with back-to-back neighboring Mt. Rose. Sierra Ski Ranch has added a new, one mile long chairlift opening much more skiing area, doubled the size of the parking area and put an addition on the day lodge. Squaw Valley boosters will be all cheers to learn that the Headwall chairlift has been completely replaced, and parking space is up 50 per cent. Youngsters 12 and under still ski free with a paying adult. Neighboring Alpine Meadows has hadded a new chairlift up Yellow Trail to relieve the crowds on Roundhouse and Weasel chairs. Incredible as it may seem, Mammoth Mountain has added four new double chairlifts, bringing the total to 14. Heavenly Valley will host a World Cup race March 22-24.

A plan called, "Ski The High Sierra," offers an interchangeable lift ticket at Alpine Meadows, Squaw Valley, Heavenly Valley, Northstar, Incline, Bear Valley and Kirkwood Meadows. You can get details and buy the package ticket at any of these ares.

The "Ski Tahoe North" idea offers mid-week skiing at a different area each day, plus a place to stay, for $65.50, with a few other goodies thrown in.

One last note: The Chosen Frozen Ski Club, for single adults of Marin County, meets every Monday at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon. The club functions all year long. Interested? Contact President Fred Andrews at 1423 24th Avenue, San Francisco.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Hold Onto Stock, Investor Is Told

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased 50 shares of Aluminum Specialty at 21. After that there was a 3-for-2 split and the stock has done nothing since. Should I sell at a loss or hold for recovery? — J.G.

A. As a result of the split you now hold 75 shares at a cost of $14 per share. A continued improvement in both sales and earnings was recorded in the September quarter, second period of the current fiscal year. Revenues gained 9.5 per cent while earnings rose 42 per cent to 62c a share. The sales gain reflected consumer acceptance of newly introduced product lines. Aluminum Specialty fabricates aluminum housewares and toys, the latter accounting for 75 per cent of volume. Field equipment for the armed forces is produced, as are small appliances.

Shares are trading ASE at below 10x estimated fiscal 1972-73 results. Financially the company has an enviable 4.2-to-1 current ratio and debt represents just over one-third of total capitalization. However, floating supply of common is limited, with only 570,475 shares outstanding and 33 per cent owned by management. Because of the pedestrian nature of the company's product line, shares will undoubtedly move in a rather narrow range. Recovery to your buy price, however, is not an unreasonable expectation and shares may be held for that eventuality.

Q. My husband plans to retire in five years. In 1968 we invested $3,000 in Winfield Growth Fund and $2,000 in Wincap Fund. We had planned to keep investing so that we could receive some income when we retire. Should we sell and take a loss? — A.M.

A. No. Wincap, which was first offered in May 1969, experienced declines in asset value for 1969 and 1970. However, in 1971 and the first three quarters of 1972, an above-average performance was achieved. Winfield's record has been much the same as Wincap's, below-average performance in down markets and average or better in bull markets. Until you are closer to retirement these two growth funds should be held.

Card Honored

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Macy's California and Macy's New York now honors the American Express card, it has been announced. This marks the first time a major U.S. department store has honored an internationally accepted travel and entertainment card.

SAMBO'S RESTAURANT

An open lot just east of Malugani's Tire Center on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley is the proposed site of a new Samabo's Restaurant, which would look like this architect's rendering. The $135,000 project is subject to city review. Mill Valley city councilmen, who have long resisted the entrance of national chains with standardized structures, indicated they will oppose the restaurant.

Profit-Taking Sends Stocks Into Decline

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices headed lower in moderate trading today as investors continued to take profits following recent sharp gains.

Wall Street observers noted the DJIA had gone up almost 9 per cent in a few trading sessions and said profit taking was bound to take place. Saul Smerling of Standard and Poor's investment service said, "The market has run into an overbought condition."

In the news, the United States said a final meeting between presidential adverser Henry Kissinger and the North Vietnamese is near. The market has been sensitive to peace news.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. was the most active issue, unchanged at 28 5-8 on 112,900 shares.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved lower in moderate trading. Permaneer was the most active Amex issue around noon off 5-8 at 8 1-2 on 72,800 shares.

On the Big Board, Mesa Petroleum was active and off 1 5-8. Wednesday directors of Pubco Petroleum said they had agreed to merge the company into Mesa.

Computer and electronics issues declined. Burroughs skidded 4, IBM 2 1-2, Texas Instruments 1 3-8 and Motorola 1 1-4.

Glamors were soft. Corning Glass lost 3 3-4, Walt Disney 3 1-2, Xerox 2 5-8 and Avon Products 1 1-8.

Negative Attitude Over Proposed Developments

Petaluma's Development Allotment Board sifted through six more development applications last night and found something at fault with each of them.

The board reviewed applications for subdivisions, apartment and mobile homes in its effort to decide which should be permitted under the city's limitation of development to 500 dwellings per year.

Qantas Development Corp. submitted two applications including 73 homes and 104 apartment units all to be built behind the Washington Square Shopping Center at McKenzie and McGregor drives. Board members said they were concerned that the already crowded McDowell School could not absorb the children and that traffic would become more congested in the area. Some also complained the developer had planned no greenstrip along the creek through the property.

Westland Investment Co. requested permission for 116 homes on 23.7 acres on Ely Boulevard South near Casa Grande Junior-Senior High School. Carleton Reinaldo of the Old Adobe School District board said schools could not absorb the youngsters. Others noted that the land has yet to be annexed to the city.

The board also reviewed the application of David A. Young of Kent Woodlands for a 103-unit adult mobile home park on North McDowell Boulevard at Corona Road. Members said they were concerned that only one access driveway is planned.

Caster Mobilehome Corp. requested 100 mobile home units as phase II for its Petaluma Estates Park at 901 North McDowell Boulevard. Some members questioned why no foot paths were planned through the proposed park.

The last plan reviewed was Petaluma Properties request for 82 units on 38.5 acres on Casa Grande Road at McDowell Boulevard extension. Plans included 15 duplexes, 28 houses and 24 apartments. The developer said that phase II to be planned later would include five acres to be donated to the homeowners association. Members said, however, they have no real assurance the second phase will ever be built and the land donated.

The board will continue its review of applications at a meeting on Saturday at 10 a.m. in city hall.

Saigon Official Is Chased Off

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Antiwar protesters chased a South Vietnamese official out of a University of California restaurant yesterday, spitting and jeering at him and his interpreter.

Tran Cong Ham, chief of planning for the Vietnamese Department of the Interior, fled the Terrace Restaurant where he and his aide were eating when some 200 demonstrators spotted them.

University police rushed to the rescue of Tuong Van Than, the interpreter, after he was spat upon and verbally abused by some of the crowd, which had been attending a rally.

There were no arrests.

Increase Noted In Oral Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Oral cancer this year will afflict 1,800 to 2,000 people in California alone, according to Dr. Michael Griffith of U.C. San Francisco's School of Dentistry.

"Over 90 per cent of oral cancer patients are smokers," Dr. Griffith said, "and smokers make up 40 per cent of this nation's population."

He theorized that an increase in the number of women who smoke may account for the statistical jump in the number of women who get oral cancer.

Dr. Griffith said that in the early 1960's the ratio of cancer in men vs. women was six to one. The current ratio is 1.6 to one.

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin®.

Fund Set Up For Purchases

The Tiburon Fire Protection District board last night decided to allocate interest from its investments to a newly established equipment replacement fund which would finance small equipment purchases and repairs.

The interest on this year's investment of between $30,000 and $35,000 is equal to $1,600, said board member Wellman H. Topham.

Each year, the fire district receives its tax revenues from the county in two lump sums. A portion of those revenues are invested by the county on behalf of the district, said Topham.

Approximately $1,600 will be added to the equipment replacement fund each year and in due course, the board will have enough money to replace the district's automobile, he said.

Truckers Claim Rights Violated

NEW YORK (UPI) —Three garment center truckers sued Police Commissioner Patrick Murphy and a deputy for $1 million Wednesday, claiming their constitutional rights were violated by an anti-Mafia drive.

The suit was filed in Manhattan Federal Court by Hyman Ruff, Thomas Gambino and Joseph Gambino and charges police have violated the 14th Amendment provisions of due process and equal protection under the law.

Also named as a defendant was Deputy Police Commissioner William P. McCarthy, in charge of the department's Organized Crime Control Bureau.

The suit seeks to halt a police campaign, which began Oct. 31, of issuing traffic summonses against six trucking companies allegedly controlled by the Mafia and accused of monopolizing curb space in the garment district.

Brooke Eyeing The Presidency

BOSTON (UPI) —The nation's only black U.S. senator is giving "serious thought" to running for the Republican presidential nomination in 1976.

"I don't rule myself out as a possibility for 1976," Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said Wednesday after winning election to a second term in Congress. "I'm going to give it serious thought."

Brooke, 52, said he did not believe Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had the inside track for the Republican presidential nomination four years from now.

"Very frankly," Brooke said, "I think we ought to have liberal moderate thought in Republican party leadership. In my opinion, Mr. Agnew is not the heir apparent."

Pakistan Quits SEATO Group

MANILA (UPI) —Pakistan has formally withdrawn from the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), the Philippine government announced today.

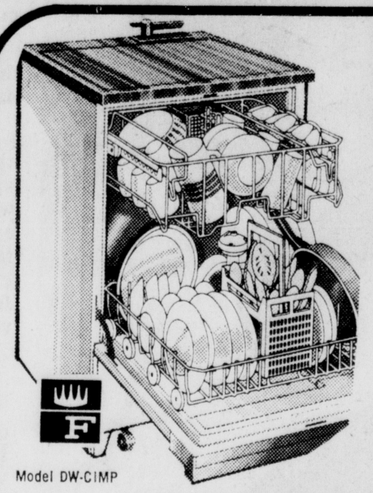

At the same time a dispatch from the Pakistani capital of Islamabad said Pakistan recognized the government of North Korea today. A government announcement said the two countries have agreed to establish diplomatic relations and to exchange ambassadors to strengthen ties and cooperation between them.

Pakistan said in its official communication that it was quitting SEATO on grounds "that the relevance of its membership had considerably diminished following the events of 1971," Tatad said.

Driver Is Trapped By Electrical Line

BERKELEY (UPI) —A 2,400-volt electrical line fell across an automobile during an accident Wednesday, trapping a driver for two hours.

The magic of Childhood.

Remember?

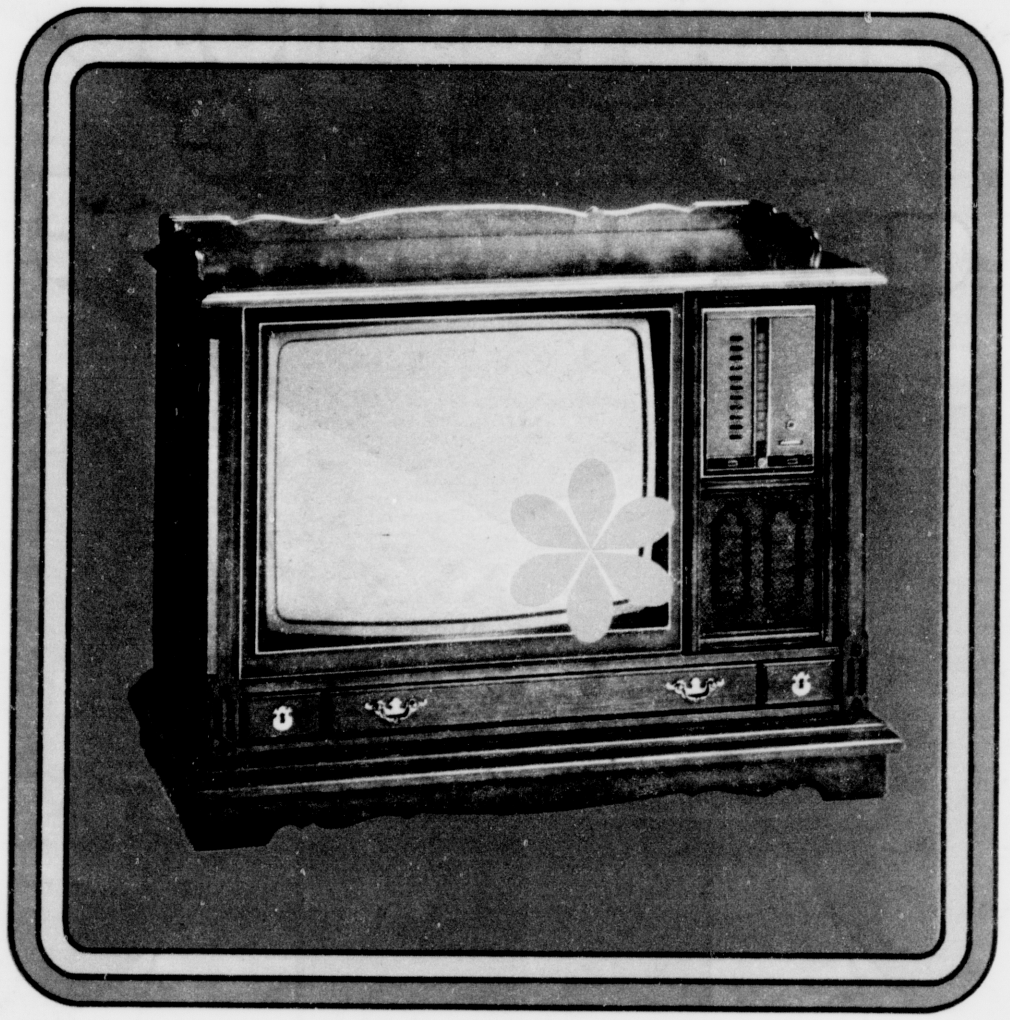

That's when the niftiest place to keep your money was in a wooden cigar box. And you really tried to save pennies, but lost them to a gumball machine eventually. Then your mother made you put half your allowance into a piggy bank that you hated because you couldn't get the nickels out when you wanted them.

At Bell Savings we make saving easier than that . . . particularly for junior savers. At Bell Savings their money earns money, just like magic: five percent on regular passbook accounts, or up to six percent on time deposits. And though they may not be too interested in our personal services, you'd probably like the free checking account and free safe deposit box that comes with a minimum deposit.

So when the time comes to teach your children about saving, bring them to Bell Savings where their money grows like magic. (It's a good place for grown-ups to save, too.) Bell Savings. . . the money-magic people.

Fly as our guests to see how Lake Havasu City is growing– but still protected from overgrowth!

You can be McCulloch's flight guests to Lake Havasu City, Arizona. There it won't take you long to learn that Lake Havasu City's 8,000 residents really like the community's sunny, year 'round better living and recreation . . . its priceless protection from "Big City" conditions.

The community is protected from overgrowth problems by its Master Plan conceived by C. V. Wood, Jr., famed designer of new communities.

The $117 million in physical improvements to date has included all the things needed for the "good life" — homes, schools, medical facilities, shopping centers, utilities, industry and recreation facilities. Recent progress includes a second shopping center, the new $1.75 million Senior and Junior High Schools, the second golf course and two new medical centers.

Besides the Master Plan for controlled growth, the size of Lake Havasu City is further limited by surrounding Government-preserved recreational land . . . it's an "act-now" opportunity!

Why McCulloch offers this "Fly To See" service

We feel that the story of the London Bridge and Lake Havasu City's growth is so astounding that you almost have to see it to believe it!

That's why we are anxious for every sincerely interested couple to fly as our guests to see for themselves.

You will fly on McCulloch International Airlines, a U.S.-certificated supplemental air carrier. It operates the nation's largest fleet of giant, 4-engine Electra-Jets. With multi-million-mile pilots, flight engineers and attentive stewardesses. You'll find the McCulloch International Airlines team of 250 people proud of its unique service.

And you'll agree . . . a flying visit to Lake Havasu City is the ideal way to explore this wonderful small world . . . a world of opportunity that offers you a chance to grow with it.

Lake Havasu City Arizona

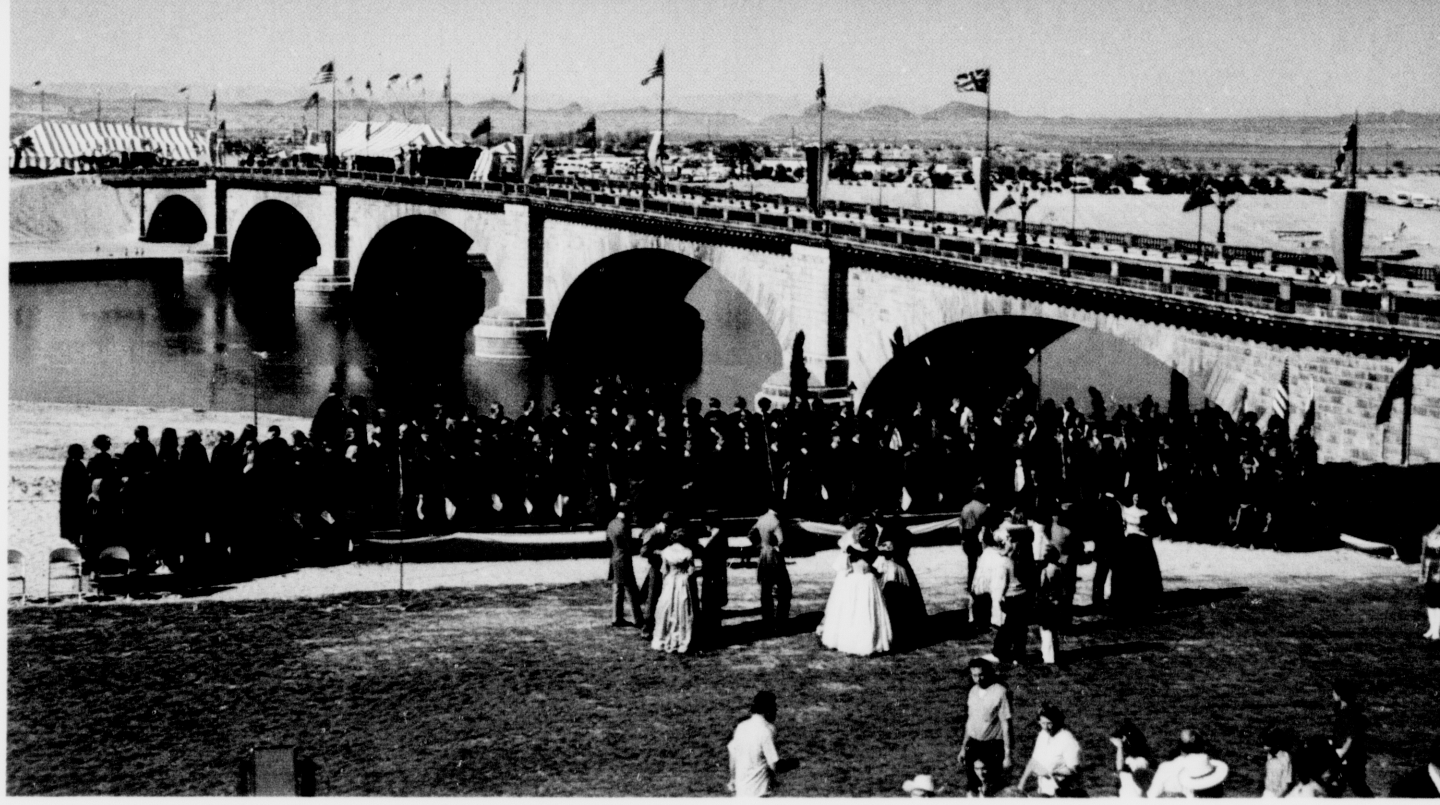

as McCulloch's flight guests!

Now both of you — husband and wife — can fly as our guests to a wonderful small world — Lake Havasu City, Arizona!

You'll find a land of year 'round water recreation, better living and industry. All in a protected "small town" environment.

You'll see that Lake Havasu City is truly a planned city — self-sufficient and beautiful. As McCulloch's first planned city, it was begun in recognition of a growing national need for completely new cities — with a new approach to living.

Lake Havasu City is designed to help relieve the pressures and problems that beset most of our nation's big cities — congestion, traffic snarls, pollution, noise and tension. Developed every step of the way according to McCulloch's Master Plan for a balanced population and economy — light industry, service businesses and "leisure industry."

You'll also see the famous London Bridge and even walk across it. Now it's completed — but the opportunity it represents is just beginning!

You'll learn firsthand how London Bridge can have far-reaching effects on the economic future of Lake Havasu City. Its reconstruction alone was an $8 million project. And now still more employment is expected to result as the proposed multi-million-dollar International Resort Center is developed. Already the City of London has completed its English Village, including a pub and restaurant, on an acre of land it owns.

Also, adding to the jobs provided by other employers already established in Lake Havasu City, McCulloch Corporation is now moving its entire Los Angeles chain saw manufacturing operation employing over 700 to this community. When the entire move is completed in 1975, it is anticipating up to 1200 employees in Lake Havasu City — with an annual payroll of millions.

While you are at Lake Havasu City, you'll also see the miles of beautiful beaches, golf courses, over 400 businesses, banks, schools and light industries that have sprung up in just eight short years. And Lake Havasu City is still growing! Since 1964, capital investment has increased by 1480%, and the increased valuation total went up 3350%!

You'll see a pleasant community of new homes — a thriving town of over 8,000 residents who have "found their place in the sun" — in the nation's third fastest-growing state.

All this growth is coupled with the many advantages of a new and better way of life that can mean new opportunities for you. So fly to see for yourselves the many opportunities that Lake Havasu City offers you!
